New Taxation Regulations Are Outlined

Expense Account Living Ended by Congress, Tax Aides

EDITOR'S NOTE—The day is past when Uncle Sam foots the bill for shows, pleasure boats and lavish dining-out disguised as business costs. Proof must replace "reasonable estimates" of outlays for business travel, entertainment and gifts This is the first of three articles on the new tax regulations.

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Before bedtime on this first business day of the new year, several million Americans will be jotting down entries in a brand new 1963 expense diary.

Many are grumbling about this daily ritual inflicted on them by Congress and the Internal Revenue Service.

Comparatively few know, at this stage, exactly what's expected of them under the new law passed by Congress to squeeze the fun and profit out of "expense account living."

The IRS regulation which spells out the new rules for "T & E"—which is lawyers' shorthand for tax-deductibe outlays for travel, entertainment and business gifts—took effect Tuesday.

The Internal Revenue commissioner, Mortimer M. Caplin, calls it "reasonable and practical." He also says it is "quite demanding"—stiff enough to "make expense account living a thing of the past."

Most taxpayers needn't worry. Only one out of 10 is affected—the one who claims I & E deductions on his incom tax returns.

Just what this paperwork must cover still isn't definite. The IRS is writing still more rules and will issue the next batch of regulations in February.

For a starter, here are basic guidelines:

Every taxpayer who expects to claim deductions for business, entertainment, travel or gifts on his 1963 tax return must keep a true, current and quite detailed record of such spending.

There is no arbitrary ceiling on travel or entertainment costs — you can deduct them if you can prove them. But they must be "directly related" to a business purpose, not just a general bid for business good will.

There is, however, an arbitrary limit for business gifts. Your presents can be as costly as you please, but you cannot take a deduction for more than $25 in gifts to any one recipient in any one year.

And if you spend $25 or more on a single item of travel or entertainment cost, you must keep a receipt or voucher to show the tax man if he demands it.

3 Dozen Homes Lost in Blaze

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A burned-out shell of a nine-story building and smouldering ruins of at least three dozen homes were all that remained today of what veteran fire officials termed the biggest fire in this city's history.

There was no immediate damage estimate, but authorities said it would be in the millions.

The 12-alarm blaze, which started in a factory warehouse in North Philadelphia, raged for more than three hours before being brought under control.

Fire Chief George E. Hink slipped on an icy pavement. He was the only person reported injured.

Should Audit of Jim Rhodes Cover His Full Ten Years?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle asked Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy today to say whether an audit of the state auditor should cover the last two years served by State Auditor James A. Rhodes or his full ten years in office.

DiSalle, Democrat defeated by Republican Rhodes in the November election, is required by law to audit the outgoing auditor. Rhodes will take over as governor Jan. 14. His successor as auditor will be Roger W. Tracy, Republican.

DiSalle ordered Finance Director James H. Maloon to hire the accounting firm of Touchet, Ross, Bailey and Smart, Detroit, Mich., to make the two-year audit. The emergency board last week released $12,000 for the examination after turning down DiSalle's request for $30,000 to make a 10-year audit.

The governor said that Rhodes, after defeating State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson for that office in 1952, insisted on an audit of the full 16 years served by Ferguson, now state treasurer.

But Rhodes, now wants only the last two years of his own period in office audited, DiSalle asserted.

"It just doesn't make sense," the governor told newsmen. "This is flying in the face of the law as it has stood for years. I think we ought to set partisanship aside. This is the second time the board has refused to make funds available for an outside audit."

DiSalle referred to board action rejecting his request for $5,000 to hire an out - of - state firm for an audit of adding machines purchased by Rhodes' office. The board subsequently released $15,000 and Rhodes hired two Ohio accounting firms to make the audit which showed nothing illegal. A county grand jury subsequently made a similar report.

Rhodes' office had no comment.

Three Republicans and two Democrats comprise the board. GOP members are Rhodes and the chairman of the House and Senate finance committees. Democrats are DiSalle and McElroy. The state officials customarily are represented by aides at meetings.

At the session approving $12,000 to audit the auditor's office, assistant Atty. Gen William Fournier voted against release of the money. He insisted that a 10-year audit should be made. Deputy Auditor C. W. Goble, representing Rhodes, insisted that a two - year audit would suffice. Goble has agreed to remain in the auditor's office after Tracy takes over.

New Parley Is Called in Dock Dispute

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiators were called into session today for another effort to settle the dock strike which has tied up shipping in ports from Maine to Texas.

Representatives of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association and the New York Shipping Association were reported far apart on contract issues when the talks were recessed Monday.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, who is mediating in the dispute, said there were some signs of understanding between the two sides. The strike of 60,000 dock workers on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts is in its 11th day.

The contract terms reached here between the union and the shipping association, which represents 145 ship and stevedoring companies, traditionally have set the pattern for agreements in other ports.

The union and the employers appear willing to submit the issue of the size of work gangs to a study panel after other contract issues are settled. The industry wanted the work gangs cut from 20 to 17 men in line with gradual automation. This was a key issue at the time the strike started.

The union seeks a package of 50 cents an hour, including 26 cents in wages, over two years. The industry has offered 22 cents an hour in wages over two years. The basic pre-strike wage was $3.02 an hour.

England Is Braced For New Blizzard

LONDON (AP) — Shivering southern England, buried beneath its worst snows in 82 years, braced today for another blizzard onslaught.

Air Ministry forecasters said snowstorms, harsher than those which already have wrought widespread death and chaos, might strike again today across wide areas of the south.

The threat of heavy new snowfalls increased anxiety in scores of villages short of food and isolated for days by mountainous snowdrifts blocking road and rail lines.

Michigan Chief Told To Put on Long Johns

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Sharp little winds blew across the platform prepared at the state Capitol in Michigan for the inauguration of George Romney as governor.

"Put on your long johns," Mrs. Romney reminded her husband minutes before the ceremony.

In a few minutes he emerged and walked, warmly underclothed, onto the chilly platform, for the inauguration. It was 18 degrees above zero.

Negro Boycott Plan Readied

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—A nationwide campaign to boycott products of firms that refuse to hire Negroes is being organized by Negro groups, the Rev. Martin Luther King says.

The Negro leader made this announcement Tuesday at a rally observing the 100th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation.

King said details of the boycott would be worked out later. He named no firms.

King told an audience of about 7,000 that Negroes should call on President Kennedy to issue a proclamation ending segregation.

"Segregation is nothing but slavery covered up with certain niceties," he said.

Senator Kerr's Death To Bring Repercussions

Oklahoma Governor May Be Appointed To Senate Vacancy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., a power among powerful men, is dead and his death is expected to have wide ranging repercussions in the White House, the Senate and his home state

The 66-year-old multimillionaire oilman - senator toppled over Tuesday morning as he was telling a story to his physician at Doctors Hospital. He died minutes later. Death was attributed to a coronary occlusion.

He entered the hospital Dec. 16 for treatment of a respiratory infection. Doctors found evidence of a heart ailment, but had said he was making good progress.

President Kennedy, who got word of Kerr's death while flying to the Orange Bowl in Miami to see the Oklahoma-Alabama football game, issued a statement hailing Kerr's legislative career as "exceptional."

Gov. J. Howard Edmondson, whose four-year term expires Jan. 14, was shocked at the death of the man sometimes called the uncrowned king of the Senate. Also in Miami for the game, Edmondson conferred with Kennedy and said later he would return to Oklahoma City today.

Speculation arose that Edmondson would resign and then be appointed to fill the vacant seat by Lt. Gov. George Nigh.

The first Republican governor in Oklahoma's history, Henry Bellmon, is to be sworn in Jan. 14. It was anticipated that Democrat Edmondson probably would act to have the vacancy filled before then. Congress convenes Jan. 9.

Kerr's death brings the Senate lineup to 66 Democrats and 33 Repubicans.

Rough hewn, with a cutting tongue and a keen mind, Kerr rose to new heights in the first two years of the Kennedy administration. He became both a powerful friend of some presidential

DeGaulle Sees Possibility of Peace in '63

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The world ushered in the new year with a salute by French President Charles de Gaulle to the possibility of peace in 1963, and "a realistic warning" by Soviet Premier Khrushchev that the West would be destroyed in any nuclear war "unleashed by capitalism."

As millions of Russians lifted vodka glasses to toast 1963, Khrushchev went on radio to tell them he wasn't making "a new year's threat" to the free world. He insisted that the Soviet Union prefers peaceful coexistence.

Meanwhile, at his Paris residence, De Gaulle told a New Year's Day party for foreign diplomats that all the nations represented at the gathering—"above all the most powerful among them—are endowed with means of destruction so terrible that everyone knows that by putting them to work they would proceed to their own destruction."

De Gaulle added, "I believe—like you — in the possibility of peace and in the compulsion of peace. It is this possibility and this compulsion that I salute at the threshold of this new year, in the name of France."

President Kennedy welcomed the in the new year at a party in Palm Beach, Fla. He and his wife attended a 10:30 a.m. Mass at St. Edward's Roman Catholic church.

Bloomers Blooming In British Freeze

LONDON (AP)—Britain's freezing winter is blooming bloomers. London stores report a sellout on the knee-length underpants.

"Girls bought bloomers just for a laugh at first," said a spokesman for one store, "but they're finding out that in this kind of weather they can't do without them."

The bloomers are long, woolly, warm and unglamorous.

The blizzards ranging over southern England are the worst since 1881—when bloomers were the fashion.

Tshombe OKs Congo Parley

Secessionist Asks Guarantee on Safety

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Moise Tshombe has agreed to return to his occupied capital for renewed dickering on Congo unification if U.N. forces halt their advance on Kolwezi where his Katangan troops are reported reassembling.

The secessionist president, in messages to diplomats here Tuesday also demanded guarantees for his safety and freedom of movement and that American, British and French consuls escort him on the last third of his journey from Kolwezi to Elisabethville, his capital.

There was no immediate U.N. reaction, but Tshombe's demand for a cease-fire on the road from Elisabethville to Kolwezi was likely to cause difficulty.

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant already has stated that Tshombe and his ministers would not be molested in Elisabethville if they refrained from stirring up trouble for U.N. forces occupying the capital.

But Robert K. A. Gardiner, the Ghanaian chief of U.N. operations in the Congo, has declared the United Nations would not "make the same mistake again of allowing Katangan armed forces a chance to reorganize.

He referred to U.N. military operations in Katanga in September and December 1961, which ended inconclusively.

As Tshombe's offer was received, Indian U.N. soldiers were halted temporarily at the Lufira River, 50 miles northwest of Elisabethville, by the destruction of two bridges. Emergency bridging equipment was reported enroute from Elisabethville.

The Indian task force was attempting to advance through Jadotville, a midway point, toward Kolwezi, 150 miles northwest of Elisabethvile, where the scattered remnants of Tshombe's gendarmes and mercenaries were reported reorganizing for guerrilla warfare.

The New Year's Day deadline set by the United Nations for Tshombe's air force to fly from Kolwezi and surrender at the U.N. base at Manona, 300 miles north of Elisabethville, passed without word of compliance or retaliatory action.

Holiday Road Toll Running Below Guess

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's traffic deaths during the long New Year's weekend today appeared to be one of the lowest for a similar four-day holiday and far below early estimates by safety experts.

Belated reports may boost the final total but the count at midnight Tuesday, the end of the 102-hour holiday period, showed 364 deaths in traffic accidents, 83 in fires and 127 in miscellaneous mishaps for a total of 574.

The National Safety Council before the start of the count at 6 p.m. (local time) last Friday estimated a traffic death toll of 420 to 480.

The council revised the figure downward to 350 to 380 after analyzing the number of persons killed in the first three days of the holiday.

The record low traffic death toll for a four-day New Year's holiday was 375 during the 1951-52 period. The record high four-day New Year's traffic toll was 409 in 1956-57.

In Ohio, where safety officials feared as many as 26 lives would be taken on the highways, the total was 14. In addition, five persons died in fires.

Paper Talks Booked

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiations resume today in the New York newspaper strike. The 26-day-old shutdown of the city's nine major newspapers was said to be crippling Broadway theater business.

Gradual Tax Cut Seen in Offing

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy, deeply worried about the fate of his legislative program in the new Congress, is ready to settle for a gradual $5 billion to $10 billion tax cut.

In order to compromise with powerful critics, the President has ordered the Treasury to prepare a tax bill that would bring about the reductions in several carefully spaced steps.

The aim is to lessen the immediate adverse impact on the federal budget deficit.

The President's action, learned from sources privy to Kennedy policy secrets, was influenced by the much-publicized deficit fears of Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, and Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. These two committees must approve all tax legislation.

It was understood that Kennedy agreed to the compromise approach because he believes without a reduction the nation will return to unemployment levels known only in periods of deep recession. But he hopes that if Congress accepts the tax plan the unemployment rates will drop to the lowest levels since the boom that followed World War II.

But while Kennedy is willing to try compromise on his tax program, authoritative sources said he is determined to push harder for American proposals for solving cold war problems—even if it means treading on the toes of sensitive allies.

Apparently emboldened by the success of the Cuban blockade, the chief executive was said to be willing now to accept criticism from abroad in order to pursue what he believes are the most promising approaches to world issues. He was depicted as accepting complaints from allies as an inevitable by-product of progress.

But there is also the problem of his legislative program's progress.

The sources detailed Kennedy's concern about the impending fight to increase the membership of the House Rules Committee from 12 to 15. They also gave his analysis of why a President who rates high in public opinion polls can have great difficulty with Congress.

Kennedy concedes his entire program is lost if the 12-member Rules Committee isn't expanded to head off control by a conservative coalition and to give it a bias favoring his legislation. This committee clears bills for action on the floor.

So far as taxes are concerned, this was the picture provided by unimpeachable sources:

Kennedy believes the unemployment rate will climb above 6 per cent if his program is not accepted by Congress. But if the legislators give their approval, he expects the rate to be held close to 5 per cent and perhaps below that point.

The President is particularly concerned because war babies are flooding the labor market at a time when payroll-slashing automation is gaining wide acceptance.

The peak unemployment rate of the 1960-61 recession was 6.9 per cent in March 1961. The November rate was 5.8 per cent, compared with a 1962 low of 5.3 per cent in July.

Kennedy believes his tax bill

Emancipation Rites Are Urged

NEW YORK (AP) — President Abraham Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation freeing the slaves went into effect 100 years ago Tuesday.

As the proclamation reached its centennial milestone, President Kennedy called on all sections of the nation—in some parts of which the sounds of racial discord still ring—to hold special commemorative ceremonies.

The document currently rests in Albany, N.Y. Slavery was abolished by the 13th Amendment to the Constitution.

Newspaper Medical Adviser Dies at 37

STRATFORD, Con.. (AP)—Dr. Burton H. Fern, 37, who overcame the handicap of almost total paralysis to become a syndicated columnist, died Tuesday.

Fern, who was stricken with polio in 1955, wrote a daily health column for the King Features Syndicate. He was born in Newark, N.J.

Dr. Fern's column appeared daily on the editorial page of The Herald.

Temperatures Moderate in Northeast U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Temperatures moderated and stormy weather appeared ended in the snow-covered sections of the Northeast today.

There were some wet spots across northern sections of the nation but no heavy amounts of snow or rain were reported.

In the Northeast, which was hammered by the season's worst storm earlier this week, light rain fell in Maine. In Maine, the storm had dumped 37 inches of snow in Old Town and 30 inches in Billinocket. Stiff winds drifted snow 20 feet high in some areas.

Light rain also was reported in the middle Mississippi Valley and in the Pacific Northwest. Freezing drizzle slicked areas in the upper Mississippi Valley while drizzle sprayed the central plains.

Snow fell in the lower Great Lakes region and in parts of the north and middle Atlantic Coast states.

In the eastern third of the nation temperatures ranged from near zero in parts of Michigan to freezing and lower in most other areas, with marks in the upper 50s in southern Florida. It was chilly in much of the Southeast with temperatures mostly in the 20s as far south as south Georgia.

A cold pocket of air kept temperatures near zero in southern Utah.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Primary roads along the Lake Erie shore in the far northeast corner of the state are slippery. Other highways are believed to be normal.

Packing Firm Ripped Apart

Terre Haute Boiler Given Initial Blame

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP)—An explosion demolished a meat processing room of Home Packing Co. today, killing 12 workers and injuring 47 others.

State Police Sgt. James Bailey said 10 bodies had been taken from the ruins. An army of rescue workers, searching for an undetermined number of other workers, spoted two survivors in the rubble and worked gingerly toward them to avoid any further injury.

Almost three dozen injured were reported in hospitals.

Police and firemen believed the explosion started in a boiler room.

Ammonia gas, apparently escaping from ruptured refrigeration lines, hampered the rescue work, and a coal mine rescue squad used gas masks to dig into the rubble.

Company officials had trouble determining exacty how many production workers were in the wrecked section. They set up a temporary office, asking other workers to register for an accounting. Early estimates had about eight unaccounted for in the ruins.

The blast occurred about 7:30 a.m. (CST) as the day workers were reporting at the riverfront plant.

About 75 workers joined in rescue efforts, including six fire companies, civil defense workers and city and state police.

Terre Haute, a city of 72,500, is 70 miles west of Indianapolis near the Illinois line.

The plant is located on the Wabash River at the west edge of the city, two blocks north of U.S. 40. No main thoroughfares were blocked.

Ten firefighter unites dug into the rubble to search for those unaccounted for.

A boiler explosion was advanced as the possible cause of the blast. No fire resulted.

More than 30 members of the day production force were at work when the blast blew off the roof and demolished the southeast wall of the plant.

November Road Toll Is 16 Pct. over '61

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Highway Safety issued a report today saying 167 persons died in traffic accidents in the state during November, a 16 per cent increase over the 143 fatalities recorded during November 1961.

The report said pedestrian deaths showed a 58 per cent increase over the November 1961 figure—41 compared with 26.

3 Americans Die in Viet Nam As Reds Down 8 Helicopters

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Communist groundfire today blasted a fleet of U.S. helicopters flying government troops into battle. Three Americans—including an Army captain—were reported killed, and four others wounded.

It was the deadliest blow struck at the U.S. forces aiding President Ngo Dinh Diem's pro-Western government in the civil war against the Viet Cong.

Red gunners hit 14 of the 15 U.S. helicopters taking part in the mission in the Mekong delta, bringing down about eight aircraft.

South Vietnamese forces reportedly suffered an estimated 50 casualties.

The Communists, fighting at battalion strength of 400 men or more, stood and fought against relays of government fighter bombers striking at them instead of running for cover as the Reds usually do after an attack.

Hours after the helicopters were downed the fighting was reported still raging 50 miles southwest of Saigon with wave after wave of guerrillas attacking in an attempt to destroy the downed aircraft or strip them of machine guns.

The three wounded American servicemen—two of them reported in serious condition—were evacuated to a hospital. The officer was taken from the batte area while still alive. He died later.

Communist groundfire hit more than 10 U.S. Army helicopters but brought down only five.

Reports of ground action were vague, but sources said fighter bombers were first called into action in midmorning, a few minutes after eight helicopters were hit as they moved in to land troops at an objective near the delta town of Vinh Long, 50 miles southwest of Saigon.

Ten fighter bombers were sent into action, and military sources indicated they would continue sorties until dark.

Two of the helicopters hit were escort craft armed with rockets and machine guns. One was reported able to fly out of the area, but the other was downed.

Six other troop-carrying helicopters were hit. Four were downed but two got away.

Government forces also launched an unusually large operation a short distance from the Cambodian frontier in the province of Tay Ninh, northwest of Saigon.

Five hundred troops were lifted in by U.S. helicopters and more than 1,200 paratroopers were dropped. About 85 aircraft, including fighters, bombers, helicopters and transport planes participated.

No initial contact was reported. Some of the paratroopers were hung up in trees, and several helicopters reported difficulty landing because the Viet Cong had set up helicopter stake traps in the area.

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Sharp little winds blew across the platform prepared at the state Capitol in Michigan for the inauguration of George Romney as governor.

"Put on your long johns," Mrs. Romney reminded her husband minutes before the ceremony.

In a few minutes he emerged and walked, warmly underclothed, onto the chilly platform, for the inauguration. It was 18 degrees above zero.

Negro Boycott Plan Readied

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—A nationwide campaign to boycott products of firms that refuse to hire Negroes is being organized by Negro groups, the Rev. Martin Luther King says.

The Negro leader made this announcement Tuesday at a rally observing the 100th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation.

King said details of the boycott would be worked out later. He named no firms.

King told an audience of about 7,000 that Negroes should call on President Kennedy to issue a proclamation ending segregation.

"Segregation is nothing but slavery covered up with certain niceties," he said.

Senator Kerr's Death To Bring Repercussions

Oklahoma Governor May Be Appointed To Senate Vacancy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., a power among powerful men, is dead and his death is expected to have wide ranging repercussions in the White House, the Senate and his home state

The 66-year-old multimillionaire oilman - senator toppled over Tuesday morning as he was telling a story to his physician at Doctors Hospital. He died minutes later. Death was attributed to a coronary occlusion.

He entered the hospital Dec. 16 for treatment of a respiratory infection. Doctors found evidence of a heart ailment, but had said he was making good progress.

President Kennedy, who got word of Kerr's death while flying to the Orange Bowl in Miami to see the Oklahoma-Alabama football game, issued a statement hailing Kerr's legislative career as "exceptional."

Gov. J. Howard Edmondson, whose four-year term expires Jan. 14, was shocked at the death of the man sometimes called the uncrowned king of the Senate. Also in Miami for the game, Edmondson conferred with Kennedy and said later he would return to Oklahoma City today.

Speculation arose that Edmondson would resign and then be appointed to fill the vacant seat by Lt. Gov. George Nigh.

The first Republican governor in Oklahoma's history, Henry Bellmon, is to be sworn in Jan. 14. It was anticipated that Democrat Edmondson probably would act to have the vacancy filled before then. Congress convenes Jan. 9.

Kerr's death brings the Senate lineup to 66 Democrats and 33 Repubicans.

Rough hewn, with a cutting tongue and a keen mind, Kerr rose to new heights in the first two years of the Kennedy administration. He became both a powerful friend of some presidential

DeGaulle Sees Possibility of Peace in '63

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The world ushered in the new year with a salute by French President Charles de Gaulle to the possibility of peace in 1963, and "a realistic warning" by Soviet Premier Khrushchev that the West would be destroyed in any nuclear war "unleashed by capitalism."

As millions of Russians lifted vodka glasses to toast 1963, Khrushchev went on radio to tell them he wasn't making "a new year's threat" to the free world. He insisted that the Soviet Union prefers peaceful coexistence.

Meanwhile, at his Paris residence, De Gaulle told a New Year's Day party for foreign diplomats that all the nations represented at the gathering—"above all the most powerful among them—are endowed with means of destruction so terrible that everyone knows that by putting them to work they would proceed to their own destruction."

De Gaulle added, "I believe—like you — in the possibility of peace and in the compulsion of peace. It is this possibility and this compulsion that I salute at the threshold of this new year, in the name of France."

President Kennedy welcomed the in the new year at a party in Palm Beach, Fla. He and his wife attended a 10:30 a.m. Mass at St. Edward's Roman Catholic church.

Bloomers Blooming In British Freeze

LONDON (AP)—Britain's freezing winter is blooming bloomers. London stores report a sellout on the knee-length underpants.

"Girls bought bloomers just for a laugh at first," said a spokesman for one store, "but they're finding out that in this kind of weather they can't do without them."

The bloomers are long, woolly, warm and unglamorous.

The blizzards ranging over southern England are the worst since 1881—when bloomers were the fashion.

Tshombe OKs Congo Parley

Secessionist Asks Guarantee on Safety

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Moise Tshombe has agreed to return to his occupied capital for renewed dickering on Congo unification if U.N. forces halt their advance on Kolwezi where his Katangan troops are reported reassembling.

The secessionist president, in messages to diplomats here Tuesday also demanded guarantees for his safety and freedom of movement and that American, British and French consuls escort him on the last third of his journey from Kolwezi to Elisabethville, his capital.

There was no immediate U.N. reaction, but Tshombe's demand for a cease-fire on the road from Elisabethville to Kolwezi was likely to cause difficulty.

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant already has stated that Tshombe and his ministers would not be molested in Elisabethville if they refrained from stirring up trouble for U.N. forces occupying the capital.

But Robert K. A. Gardiner, the Ghanaian chief of U.N. operations in the Congo, has declared the United Nations would not "make the same mistake again of allowing Katangan armed forces a chance to reorganize.

He referred to U.N. military operations in Katanga in September and December 1961, which ended inconclusively.

As Tshombe's offer was received, Indian U.N. soldiers were halted temporarily at the Lufira River, 50 miles northwest of Elisabethville, by the destruction of two bridges. Emergency bridging equipment was reported enroute from Elisabethville.

The Indian task force was attempting to advance through Jadotville, a midway point, toward Kolwezi, 150 miles northwest of Elisabethvile, where the scattered remnants of Tshombe's gendarmes and mercenaries were reported reorganizing for guerrilla warfare.

The New Year's Day deadline set by the United Nations for Tshombe's air force to fly from Kolwezi and surrender at the U.N. base at Manona, 300 miles north of Elisabethville, passed without word of compliance or retaliatory action.

Holiday Road Toll Running Below Guess

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's traffic deaths during the long New Year's weekend today appeared to be one of the lowest for a similar four-day holiday and far below early estimates by safety experts.

Belated reports may boost the final total but the count at midnight Tuesday, the end of the 102-hour holiday period, showed 364 deaths in traffic accidents, 83 in fires and 127 in miscellaneous mishaps for a total of 574.

The National Safety Council before the start of the count at 6 p.m. (local time) last Friday estimated a traffic death toll of 420 to 480.

The council revised the figure downward to 350 to 380 after analyzing the number of persons killed in the first three days of the holiday.

The record low traffic death toll for a four-day New Year's holiday was 375 during the 1951-52 period. The record high four-day New Year's traffic toll was 409 in 1956-57.

In Ohio, where safety officials feared as many as 26 lives would be taken on the highways, the total was 14. In addition, five persons died in fires.

Gradual Tax Cut Seen in Offing

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy, deeply worried about the fate of his legislative program in the new Congress, is ready to settle for a gradual $5 billion to $10 billion tax cut.

In order to compromise with powerful critics, the President has ordered the Treasury to prepare a tax bill that would bring about the reductions in several carefully spaced steps.

The aim is to lessen the immediate adverse impact on the federal budget deficit.

The President's action, learned from sources privy to Kennedy policy secrets, was influenced by the much-publicized deficit fears of Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, and Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. These two committees must approve all tax legislation.

It was understood that Kennedy agreed to the compromise approach because he believes without a reduction the nation will return to unemployment levels known only in periods of deep recession. But he hopes that if Congress accepts the tax plan the unemployment rates will drop to the lowest levels since the boom that followed World War II.

But while Kennedy is willing to try compromise on his tax program, authoritative sources said he is determined to push harder for American proposals for solving cold war problems—even if it means treading on the toes of sensitive allies.

Apparently emboldened by the success of the Cuban blockade, the chief executive was said to be willing now to accept criticism from abroad in order to pursue what he believes are the most promising approaches to world issues. He was depicted as accepting complaints from allies as an inevitable by-product of progress.

But there is also the problem of his legislative program's progress.

The sources detailed Kennedy's concern about the impending fight to increase the membership of the House Rules Committee from 12 to 15. They also gave his analysis of why a President who rates high in public opinion polls can have great difficulty with Congress.

Kennedy concedes his entire program is lost if the 12-member Rules Committee isn't expanded to head off control by a conservative coalition and to give it a bias favoring his legislation. This committee clears bills for action on the floor.

So far as taxes are concerned, this was the picture provided by unimpeachable sources:

Kennedy believes the unemployment rate will climb above 6 per cent if his program is not accepted by Congress. But if the legislators give their approval, he expects the rate to be held close to 5 per cent and perhaps below that point.

The President is particularly concerned because war babies are flooding the labor market at a time when payroll-slashing automation is gaining wide acceptance.

The peak unemployment rate of the 1960-61 recession was 6.9 per cent in March 1961. The November rate was 5.8 per cent, compared with a 1962 low of 5.3 per cent in July.

Temperatures Moderate in Northeast U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Temperatures moderated and stormy weather appeared ended in the snow-covered sections of the Northeast today.

There were some wet spots across northern sections of the nation but no heavy amounts of snow or rain were reported.

In the Northeast, which was hammered by the season's worst storm earlier this week, light rain fell in Maine. In Maine, the storm had dumped 37 inches of snow in Old Town and 30 inches in Billinocket. Stiff winds drifted snow 20 feet high in some areas.

Light rain also was reported in the middle Mississippi Valley and in the Pacific Northwest. Freezing drizzle slicked areas in the upper Mississippi Valley while drizzle sprayed the central plains.

Snow fell in the lower Great Lakes region and in parts of the north and middle Atlantic Coast states.

In the eastern third of the nation temperatures ranged from near zero in parts of Michigan to freezing and lower in most other areas, with marks in the upper 50s in southern Florida. It was chilly in much of the Southeast with temperatures mostly in the 20s as far south as south Georgia.

A cold pocket of air kept temperatures near zero in southern Utah.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Primary roads along the Lake Erie shore in the far northeast corner of the state are slippery. Other highways are believed to be normal.

Emancipation Rites Are Urged

NEW YORK (AP) — President Abraham Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation freeing the slaves went into effect 100 years ago Tuesday.

As the proclamation reached its centennial milestone, President Kennedy called on all sections of the nation—in some parts of which the sounds of racial discord still ring—to hold special commemorative ceremonies.

The document currently rests in Albany, N.Y. Slavery was abolished by the 13th Amendment to the Constitution.

Fern, who was stricken with polio in 1955, wrote a daily health column for the King Features Syndicate. He was born in Newark, N.J.

Dr. Fern's column appeared daily on the editorial page of The Herald.

Packing Firm Ripped Apart

Terre Haute Boiler Given Initial Blame

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP)—An explosion demolished a meat processing room of Home Packing Co. today, killing 12 workers and injuring 47 others.

State Police Sgt. James Bailey said 10 bodies had been taken from the ruins. An army of rescue workers, searching for an undetermined number of other workers, spoted two survivors in the rubble and worked gingerly toward them to avoid any further injury.

Almost three dozen injured were reported in hospitals.

Police and firemen believed the explosion started in a boiler room.

Ammonia gas, apparently escaping from ruptured refrigeration lines, hampered the rescue work, and a coal mine rescue squad used gas masks to dig into the rubble.

Company officials had trouble determining exacty how many production workers were in the wrecked section. They set up a temporary office, asking other workers to register for an accounting. Early estimates had about eight unaccounted for in the ruins.

The blast occurred about 7:30 a.m. (CST) as the day workers were reporting at the riverfront plant.

About 75 workers joined in rescue efforts, including six fire companies, civil defense workers and city and state police.

Terre Haute, a city of 72,500, is 70 miles west of Indianapolis near the Illinois line.

The plant is located on the Wabash River at the west edge of the city, two blocks north of U.S. 40. No main thoroughfares were blocked.

Ten firefighter unites dug into the rubble to search for those unaccounted for.

A boiler explosion was advanced as the possible cause of the blast. No fire resulted.

More than 30 members of the day production force were at work when the blast blew off the roof and demolished the southeast wall of the plant.

November Road Toll Is 16 Pct. over '61

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Highway Safety issued a report today saying 167 persons died in traffic accidents in the state during November, a 16 per cent increase over the 143 fatalities recorded during November 1961.

The report said pedestrian deaths showed a 58 per cent increase over the November 1961 figure—41 compared with 26.

3 Americans Die in Viet Nam As Reds Down 8 Helicopters

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Communist groundfire today blasted a fleet of U.S. helicopters flying government troops into battle. Three Americans—including an Army captain—were reported killed, and four others wounded.

It was the deadliest blow struck at the U.S. forces aiding President Ngo Dinh Diem's pro-Western government in the civil war against the Viet Cong.

Red gunners hit 14 of the 15 U.S. helicopters taking part in the mission in the Mekong delta, bringing down about eight aircraft.

South Vietnamese forces reportedly suffered an estimated 50 casualties.

The Communists, fighting at battalion strength of 400 men or more, stood and fought against relays of government fighter bombers striking at them instead of running for cover as the Reds usually do after an attack.

Hours after the helicopters were downed the fighting was reported still raging 50 miles southwest of Saigon with wave after wave of guerrillas attacking in an attempt to destroy the downed aircraft or strip them of machine guns.

The three wounded American servicemen—two of them reported in serious condition—were evacuated to a hospital. The officer was taken from the batte area while still alive. He died later.

Communist groundfire hit more than 10 U.S. Army helicopters but brought down only five.

Reports of ground action were vague, but sources said fighter bombers were first called into action in midmorning, a few minutes after eight helicopters were hit as they moved in to land troops at an objective near the delta town of Vinh Long, 50 miles southwest of Saigon.

Ten fighter bombers were sent into action, and military sources indicated they would continue sorties until dark.

Two of the helicopters hit were escort craft armed with rockets and machine guns. One was reported able to fly out of the area, but the other was downed.

Six other troop-carrying helicopters were hit. Four were downed but two got away.

Government forces also launched an unusually large operation a short distance from the Cambodian frontier in the province of Tay Ninh, northwest of Saigon.

Five hundred troops were lifted in by U.S. helicopters and more than 1,200 paratroopers were dropped. About 85 aircraft, including fighters, bombers, helicopters and transport planes participated.

No initial contact was reported. Some of the paratroopers were hung up in trees, and several helicopters reported difficulty landing because the Viet Cong had set up helicopter stake traps in the area.

Ag Measures Seen Tied to Rules Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Farmers Union says the chances of new farm legislation at the new session of Congress may well be determined by opening battles over congressional rules.

Bipartisan groups of liberal senators want to make it easier to stop filibusters in the Senate. In the House, another fight looms over attempts to enlarge the Rules Committee and thus head off conservative control of the committee. It exercises wide control over measures going before the House. President Kennedy has voiced strong support for increasing the committee's membership.

In a news letter to members, the farm organization said:

"When the outcome of these two fights is determined, the administration and their supporters in Congress will then have a gauge by which they can measure the chances for passage of new farm legislation."

The Farmers Union has supported administration moves to tighten farm production and supply controls.

Stock Market Quiet, Lower

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels were a firm spot in a mixed stock market as 1963 trading got under way today. Dealings were quiet early this afternoon.

While key stocks generally showed gains or losses of fractions to about a point, some of the higher-priced issues dropped 2 or 3 points.

Brokers ascribed the sharper losses to the desire of some traders to take profits at the start of the new year.

The firmness in steels was linked to expectations of heavy steel shipments this month.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .2 at 243.2 with industrials off .5, raised up .2, and utilities off .2.

Romney Files Call For New Harmony

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—George Romney began his first working day as governor of Michigan today amid signs that his plea for bipartisan harmony in state government may have struck a responsive chord.

In colorful ceremonies at the state capitol, the former American Motors Corp. president was sworn into office shortly after noon New Years Day as the state's first Republican governor in 14 years.

The 55-year-old Romney called for an end to partisanship in a 2,500-word inaugural address that did not once mention the word "Republican."

A crowd of about 3,000 shivering in sub - freezing temperatures, cheered Romney as he urged cooperation from all citizens of Michigan regardless of their separate interests.

2 Rabbinical School Pupils Die in Fire

WILLOUGHBY, Ohio (AP) — Two panic-stricken boys, trapped on the top floor of a burning wooden dormitory, died because they were afraid to jump to safety with their two roommates.

The roaring fire that destroyed the dormitory at the Rabbinical College of Telshe in Wickliffe Tuesday routed 65 others. Many leaped out of windows of the 2½-story buiding.

One of two students injured in a jump was Victor Sabo, 14, of Los Angeles, who suffered a broken ankle. Two of his roommates—Jacob Jundef, 12, of Cleveland, and Sidney Gluck, 13, of Cleveland Heights — perished on the second floor.

Sabo said he urged the younger boys to jump after him but they were too frightened. The fourth roommate, an older boy, leaped first.

"One just stood there screaming," recalled Sabo. "The other ran into the hall, trying to reach one of the fire escapes at the end of the building."

Firemen found the badly charred remains of the two boys in the basement rubble. One body was on a mattress, the other about 25 feet away. Identifications were made through dental work.

Dr. Harry Killian, a deputy coroner, ruled that Jundek suffocated in his room and Gluck burned to death in the hall.

One Injury Reported by City Police

Circleville Police investigated six accidents from Monday until today, but only one resulted in injuries.

Injured in a two-car collision 9:41 a. m. New Year's Day at Main and Mingo Sts. was David L. Krouskop, 22, Lima. He suffered two broken teeth and a cut lip.

The other auto was operated by C. H. Westcott, Providence, R. I. He was not hurt.

According to Patrolman William Brungs, the Westcott car, headed east on Main St., was struck in the rear by the Krouskop vehicle. Westcott was attemping o make a left turn.

County Commission Scheduled To Reorganize at Next Meet

Routine business was the order of the day when the Pickaway County Board of Commissioners met Monday for its final meeting of 1962.

Reorganization of the Commission is scheduled Monday when the Board convenes for its first session of 1963. Assuming a post as county solon will be Wayne Hines, a Republican who defeated Democrat Charles Morris in the November election.

Morris served as chairman of the Board during the past year. This will mark Hines' second tenure as a Commissioner. He held the office from 1956-60 before being defeated in the 1960 election.

The GOP Commissioner will join Democrats Clyde Michel and Lloyd Melvin to form the county's lawmaking panel for the coming year.

* * *

NEXT WEEK'S Commission agenda will include a look at the county's departmental appropriations for the coming year. The survey will probably cover a couple of days before final approval is made.

Estimated departmental budgets were accepted by the Commission last July.

In other business Monday, the Commission appointed Mrs. Silvia Johnson, Route 2, Williamsport, as a member of the Child Welfare Board. Her term will extend from Jan. 2, 1963 to Jan. 2, 1967.

Ag Measures Seen Tied to Rules Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Farmers Union says the chances of new farm legislation at the new session of Congress may well be determined by opening battles over congressional rules.

Bipartisan groups of liberal senators want to make it easier to stop filibusters in the Senate. In the House, another fight looms over attempts to enlarge the Rules Committee and thus head off conservative control of the committee. It exercises wide control over measures going before the House. President Kennedy has voiced strong support for increasing the committee's membership.

In a news letter to members, the farm organization said:

"When the outcome of these two fights is determined, the administration and their supporters in Congress will then have a gauge by which they can measure the chances for passage of new farm legislation."

The Farmers Union has supported administration moves to tighten farm production and supply controls.

Stock Market Quiet, Lower

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels were a firm spot in a mixed stock market as 1963 trading got under way today. Dealings were quiet early this afternoon.

While key stocks generally showed gains or losses of fractions to about a point, some of the higher-priced issues dropped 2 or 3 points.

Brokers ascribed the sharper losses to the desire of some traders to take profits at the start of the new year.

The firmness in steels was linked to expectations of heavy steel shipments this month.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .2 at 243.2 with industrials off .5, raised up .2, and utilities off .2.

Romney Files Call For New Harmony

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—George Romney began his first working day as governor of Michigan today amid signs that his plea for bipartisan harmony in state government may have struck a responsive chord.

In colorful ceremonies at the state capitol, the former American Motors Corp. president was sworn into office shortly after noon New Years Day as the state's first Republican governor in 14 years.

The 55-year-old Romney called for an end to partisanship in a 2,500-word inaugural address that did not once mention the word "Republican."

A crowd of about 3,000 shivering in sub - freezing temperatures, cheered Romney as he urged cooperation from all citizens of Michigan regardless of their separate interests.

Juvenile Court Handles 3 Cases

Disposition of three traffic cases was completed Friday in Pickaway County Juvenile Court.

Richard G. DeVors Jr., 17, Ashville, was handed a $10 suspended fine for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone. His operator's license was suspended for three months.

The other two traffic cases were transferred to Ross and Fayette Counties.

Three Local Men Cited for Fighting

Three Circleville men involved in a fight Monday night at Prairie Lanes Recreation Center were cited for disorderly conduct by city police.

Roger Davis forfeited a $50 bond and Curtis D. Smith forfeited a $24 bond.

Junior Lee Denny waived a court hearing and paid a fine of $15 and costs. He reportedly suffered a broken ankle in the skirmish.

Charges were filed by William Hodge, manager of the bowling lanes, and David Olney, an employe.

Farmers' Great Accomplishment

Officials of the United States Department of Agriculture may both sigh and rejoice over the news that the farmer is again breaking all records. They will take pride in the accomplishments of the American farmer in pushing crop abundance and quality to the highest attainments in history, and in the contribution of the Agriculture Department to this achievement.

The economic research service of the department has released results of a survey of 1961 farm activity. The report reveals output increased 1 per cent over 1960, to a record. More revealing was the finding that this output was achieved with 4 per cent fewer man hours than were required in 1960.

Increase in farm activity, then, is maintaining its pace unabated. But the other side of the ledger shows another drop in family farms, a continued displacement of farmers and further additions to stockpiles of many surplus commodities. These are factors contributing to such national problems as unemployment and the rising cost of farm support programs, not to mention the already monumental problem of disposing of current and past surpluses without dangerously disrupting world markets.

The evolution of farm productivity has been under way since 1918, when man hours of farm labor reached their apex. The pace has accelerated rapidly since 1940.

Though storage warehouses are bulging at the seams, the problems of too much with which the United States has to contend are dwarfed by the food troubles of the have-nots. Asia, Africa, South America and parts of Europe could emulate the pattern of agriculture in the United States if they had the seeds of knowledge, research, technology, ingenuity, prudence and patience of the American farmer to sow.

These magic beginnings do not come from the earth; they must be implanted in it.

No Ban on Cigarettes

Even if a scientific committee now reviewing the evidence finds that cigarette smoking is harmful, the government should not attempt to outlaw cigarettes or tell people they shouldn't smoke them, says Anthony Celebrezze, U.S. secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

He is convinced the government acted properly in trying to determine whether smoking is a health hazard, Celebrezze says, and when it does it should lay the evidence before the public. But from that point forward, the individual must make the decision, he believes.

In the days when laws in Kansas and Utah forbade the sale of cigarettes, they were bootlegged, just as liquor was during prohibition. It's almost impossible to force people to give up a pleasure, even when they know it's harmful.

Left to their own devices, people who decide things reasonably will consider the evidence and act accordingly. The others will not be deterred by a law of which they disapprove.

Retirement: No Death Sentence

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Retirement is no death sentence. A man who quits work at 65 can expect to live to be 79.6 years old.

Almost 53 per cent of Americas individual stockholders are women—but they hold fewer actual shares than men do.

Water doesn't look crowded but it is. Each drop contains about six sextillion atoms.

It is estimated that Americans bought more than 1.5 billion presents this Christmas. Some 41 per cent of the average family's gifts are purchased during the Christmas season.

There is some truth in the remark of old-timers that "We don't have winters like we used to." Scientists say the climate gradually is growing warmer.

"A loving wife will do anything for her husband except stop criticizing and trying to improve him"—J.B. Priestley.

Tokyo now has five English-language newspapers.

The dying words of George Washington were, "It is well." James Madison said, "I always talk better lying down." U. S. Grant cried, "Water." Grover Cleveland said, "I have tried so hard to do right." And Woodrow Wilson said to his wife, "Edith, I'm a broken machine, but I'm ready."

Three per cent of the nations population moves from one state to another each year.

Some comets have no tails, while others have tails up to 150 million miles long.

It takes persistence to be an author. Marcel Proust had to print "Swann's Way" at his own expense. William Faulkner's book "Sound and Fury" was turned down by 13 publishers. It took Theodore Dresier and Erskine Caldwell seven years to get their first novels published.

Of 300,000 known vegetables, only about 30 are widely used as human food.

The longest-lived birds, except for vultures and parrots are Canada geese. In captivity they have reached the age of 70.

Vampire bats can run on the ground as fast as a rat.

It was Wilson Mizner who observed, "I respect faith, but doubt is what gets you an education."

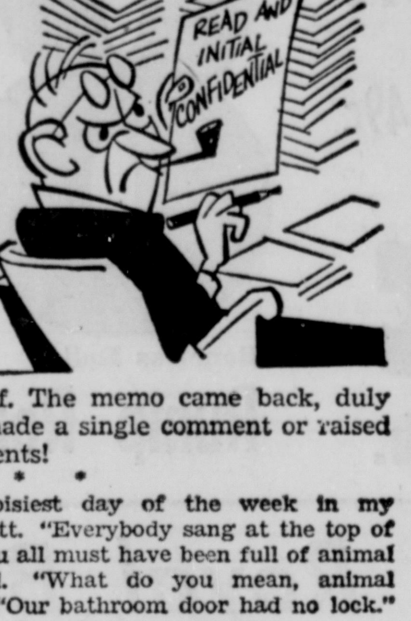
Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

BURDICK AND WHEELER'S un-put-downable new best-seller, "Fail-Safe," suggests that electronic gear and fantastic new weapons are becoming so complex that they are outstripping the ability of man to control them, and that the world may one day be destroyed by a nuclear war nobody wanted—that was begun by accident.



Implying that many secret documents are not properly digested by qualified recipients, Burdick and Wheeler tell of one official who stuffed a sixty-page essay by Ralph Waldo Emerson into a confidential memo addressed to his entire staff. The memo came back, duly initialed, but not one man made a single comment or raised one question about the contents!

* * *

"Sunday was always the noisiest day of the week in my family," recalled Buddy Hackett. "Everybody sang at the top of his lungs in the bathtub." "You all must have been full of animal spirits," commented a friend. "What do you mean, animal spirits?" countered Hackett. "Our bathroom door had no lock."

They have some odd weather out Oklahoma way. A news dispatch from one town in the Western end of that state, for instance, tells how half of Farmer Burt Quigley's barn was sheared off by a twister. While he was discussing with a builder plans for replacing it, another storm came along and blew down the half that remained!

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H FERN, M. D.

Dear Doctor: I feel woozy and lightheaded for an hour or so after getting up each morning. Why?
Mrs. W. M. (Calif.)

Dear Mrs. M.: When you lie flat, blood pressure falls. When you stand, automatic nerves raise blood pressure to guarantee adequate flow uphill to the brain.

Your automatic nerves may have grown sluggish.

Get up gradually. First sit; then dangle legs over the side, then stand. Give your system time to adapt

Special prescriptions also prevent your being caught standing with your blood pressure lying down!

Dear Doctor: Am I anemic? When I have to have a blood test, no one seems to be able to get enough blood out of my arm.
Mrs. M.T. (N. C.)

Dear Mrs. T: Quality counts more than quantity. Anemic people have just as much blood as everyone else. Their blood is simply more watery.

Your small veins probably collapse around the needle as the plunger is pulled back to draw out blood.

Dear Doctor: My feet sweat constantly The odor is embarrassing. What should I do?
Miss M. C. (N.Y.)

Dear Miss C: Perspiration has no odor until ordinary skin germs change its chemicals.

Wash feet twice daily with an antiseptic soap like Hexachlorophene liquid soap USP or pHisoHEX-R. Wipe with a 1 per cent formaldehyde solution to slow perspiration and kill more germs.

Dear Doctor: Do house cats carry germs? Should they be allowed to stay in the house with children?
Mrs. T. A. (Wash.)

Dear Mrs. A : Cats carry germs; so do dogs — and even people. Often, the animal germs can't spread to humans.

Pets like dogs or cats belong in the home. Part of growing up, they add to mental health by teaching youngsters responsibility for living things. Inside, cats destroy germ-carrying mice and rats; outside they're often too busy with other cats!

Dear Doctor: I bruise easily. Does this mean I have leukemia?
Mrs F. J. (Fla.)

Dear Mrs. J.: No. Your blood vessels may be brittle as glass. Tiny clotting cells may be missing, weak or all used up in clots inside the body.

Like leukemia, allergies, poisonings and tumors keep clotting cells from growing inside bone marrow. Perhaps, like hemophilia suffers, you lack an essential clotting chemical.

Only laboratory tests can pinpoint the trouble. Ask your doctor.

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — The Tax burden has been called too heavy by everyone from President Kennedy down to the lowliest taxpayer. It will be up for debate soon in Congress, many state legislatures and numerous local governing bodies.

Just how heavy is it?

The amount and impact has been collected by the Tax Foundation, a private non - profit organization keeping an eye on such matters. In the biennial publication, Facts and Figures on Government Finance, out today, the foundation looks at the total burden, how it is spent, how the public debt grows.

The totals are pretty high — the taxes, the spending, the debt. You might find them a help in understanding the pros and cons as Congress discusses whether the federal tax rates can or can't be cut, and if so how much.

In fiscal 1962 the Tax Foundation puts total government tax receipts at $140 billion, up $3 billion in the year. This includes federal, state and local collections. In 1950, these governments collected $54.8 billion.

President Kennedy says that while much of this is necessary to provide for defense and civil services, it still takes quite a chunk out of the purchasing power of American consumers and business firms that could be used to speed up economic growth.

The three levels of government spent $174 billion in fiscal 1962, the Foundation estimates. This is $10 billion more than in 1961 and compares with $70.3 billion in 1950.

Those who contend government should spend still more now, if it wants business to get out its present sluggish growth, hold that much of the $174 billion went towards keeping many individuals at work and many firms producing more than they otherwise would.

The Foundation puts the gross debt of federal , state and local governments at the end of fiscal 1962 at $379 billion, up $15 billion in the year, and comparing with $289 billion in 1952.

The debt total, with state and local components estimated by the Foundation, shows the federal tab as $298 billion, the local debt as $59 bilion, and the state as as $59 billion, and the state as since the end of fiscal 1962 has risen to more than $304 billion.)

Statisticians like to reduce these gross figures down to the average person or the average family. This can be done by dividing the totals by the latest figures or estimates on the number of persons or family units in the United States.

This means little, particularly in the matter of taxes, since few persons pay the average figures. But the foundation has done the arithmetic and here is how the tax burden, government spending and debt figures out for each of the family units now estimated to be in the United States.

The share of each family in total taxes collected in fiscal 1962 is put at $3,005, compared with $1,394 in 1950. Government spending comes to $3,739 for each family, against $1,800 in 1950. And each family's share of the debt of the three forms of government is $8,129, compared with $7,100 in 1952.

Jack's Capacity for Growth

By John Chamberlain

This is the time for resolutions and stocktaking. I haven't been at the job of writing a daily column for long enough to know what I should make resolutions about, but in taking stock for the future I find, amid a welter of perils, one thing that is vastly encouraging; we have a President who is willing to admit mistakes. In looking back on the Bay of Pigs catastrophe, even air cover was withheld from the brave Cubans who stormed the beach only to fall into Castro's clutches, President Kennedy has confessed that he personally pulled a boo-boo.

This, unless I have been alseep at certain important junctures during the past half century, is something that is absolutely unprecedented.

The standard high level procedure has been to admit nothing and, when things have obviously gone wrong, to pick out a convenient scapegoat and let him go to the sacrificial block.

Nobody in high places, for example, has confessed to making a mistake at Yalta. Nobody has stepped forward to take the blame for the physical isolation of West Berlin from the rest of the Free World. Nobody has accepted responsibility for confusing the Chinese Communists with the southern agrarians who put Thomas Jefferson into the White House in 1801. The list might be extended almost to infinity, but it is only charitable to limit it to a few examples.

While we are on the subject, however, it would be fair to recall that some of the sacrificial goats are still in the land of the living. It is still not too late for tendering the sort of apologies to them that might make their declining days a little happier than they are otherwise likely to be.

There is old Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, for example. He lives in Groton, Conn., not far from the Electric Boat Company shipyards in which the atomic submarines are outfitted. Amid the bustle of preparations for a possible naval war of the future, he broods upon naval campaigns of the past which he was compelled, as a sacrificial goat, to sit out.

Yet what did Admiral Kimmel, victim of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, do to deserve the role of goat? Far more was known in Washington than at Kimmel's post in Hawaii about the impending plans of the Japanese during that first ominous week of December in 1941. The Admiral's superiors, from Commander-in-Chief Roosevelt and Admiral Harold Stark on down, knew on December 6 from a cracked Japanese code message that war was coming somehow, somewhere, the next day, but no move was made to warn Pearl Harbor.

Unwilling to shoulder the blame for passiveness themselves, the Washington authorities foisted everything off on Kimmel and on the army commander in Hawaii, Lieutenant General Walter Short. General Short is now dead, and no apology can reach him, but Kimmel is very much alive — and still waiting vindication from those who might offer it to him.

Another sacrificial victim who still walks the earth is General Douglas MacArthur. He was removed from his Pacific command for having the temerity — and the foresight — to insist that the Chinese Communists were committed to riding an imperialist tide that could easily engulf the whole world. But nobody has apologized to him, or otherwise moved to remove the single official blot on his otherwise immaculate name.

The business of insisting on justice for sacrificial goats is an unprofitable one, for nobody likes to listen to a catalogue of reproaches that echoes that ancient refrain of "I told you so". It is far better when the author of a mistake speaks up and absolves the sacrificial goat on his own.

After the Bay of Pigs disaster, certain changes were made in the Central Intelligence Agency. Some C.I.A. people who had favord a "hard" approach to Castro disappeared from familiar haunts along the Potomac—and the natural conclusion was that they were being punished for advocating that air cover be extended to the Cuban invaders. If ancient precedent had continued to prevail, the injustice to the "hards" in the C.I.A. would never have been corrected. However, the miracle has happened: President Kennedy has inferentially confessed that the C.I.A. "hards" were right after all. And in taking the blame for error upon his own shoulders, he has shown that he has a rare potential both for fairness and for growth.

You're Telling Me!

By WILLIAM RITT
Central Press Writer

Three chicago surgeons have found their own blood donors. The Internal Revenue people knew it all the time.

When you're your own blood donor, they take the blood out beforehand, then pump it back in during an operation. The Internal Revenue people take it and pump it back into everybody.

If you're your own blood donor, you're sure to get the right type. Prevents bad blood between two people.

There is a division of opinion in Congress about a tax cut. Some congressmen don't think we can afford to cut taxes and others don't think we can afford to pay them.

Anti-New Frontier congressmen will be on the spot when a tax cut comes up. They'll be demmed if they do and demmed if they don't.

This tax cut business puts Kennedy in a real strategic position. Either "he" cuts taxes or "they" won't let him.

A tax cut is supposed to be a business stimulant. The stronger the stimulant, the rosier business looks.

A lot of Republicans don't want the "Ev and Charlie" show continued. Probably they feel the show should be behind some other kind of screen.

Officials of the United States Department of Agriculture may both sigh and rejoice over the news that the farmer is again breaking all records. They will take pride in the accomplishments of the American farmer in pushing crop abundance and quality to the highest attainments in history, and in the contribution of the Agriculture Department to this achievement.

The economic research service of the department has released results of a survey of 1961 farm activity. The report reveals output increased 1 per cent over 1960, to a record. More revealing was the finding that this output was achieved with 4 per cent fewer man hours than were required in 1960.

Increase in farm activity, then, is maintaining its pace unabated. But the other side of the ledger shows another drop in family farms, a continued displacement of farmers and further additions to stockpiles of many surplus commodities. These are factors contributing to such national problems as unemployment and the rising cost of farm support programs, not to mention the already monumental problem of disposing of current and past surpluses without dangerously disrupting world markets.

The evolution of farm productivity has been under way since 1918, when man hours of farm labor reached their apex. The pace has accelerated rapidly since 1940.

Though storage warehouses are bulging at the seams, the problems of too much with which the United States has to contend are dwarfed by the food troubles of the have-nots. Asia, Africa, South America and parts of Europe could emulate the pattern of agriculture in the United States if they had the seeds of knowledge, research, technology, ingenuity, prudence and patience of the American farmer to sow.

These magic beginnings do not come from the earth; they must be implanted in it.

No Ban on Cigarettes

Even if a scientific committee now reviewing the evidence finds that cigarette smoking is harmful, the government should not attempt to outlaw cigarettes or tell people they shouldn't smoke them, says Anthony Celebrezze, U.S. secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

He is convinced the government acted properly in trying to determine whether smoking is a health hazard, Celebrezze says, and when it does it should lay the evidence before the public. But from that point forward, the individual must make the decision, he believes.

In the days when laws in Kansas and Utah forbade the sale of cigarettes, they were bootlegged, just as liquor was during prohibition. It's almost impossible to force people to give up a pleasure, even when they know it's harmful.

Left to their own devices, people who decide things reasonably will consider the evidence and act accordingly. The others will not be deterred by a law of which they disapprove.

Retirement: No Death Sentence

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Retirement is no death sentence. A man who quits work at 65 can expect to live to be 79.6 years old.

Almost 53 per cent of Americas individual stockholders are women—but they hold fewer actual shares than men do.

Water doesn't look crowded but it is. Each drop contains about six sextillion atoms.

It is estimated that Americans bought more than 1.5 billion presents this Christmas. Some 41 per cent of the average family's gifts are purchased during the Christmas season.

There is some truth in the remark of old-timers that "We don't have winters like we used to." Scientists say the climate gradually is growing warmer.

"A loving wife will do anything for her husband except stop criticizing and trying to improve him"—J.B. Priestley.

Tokyo now has five English-language newspapers.

The dying words of George Washington were, "It is well." James Madison said: "I always talk better lying down." U. S. Grant cried, "Water." Grover Cleveland said, "I have tried so hard to do right." And Woodrow Wilson said to his wife, "Edith, I'm a broken machine, but I'm ready."

Three per cent of the nations population moves from one state to another each year.

Some comets have no tails, while others have tails up to 150 million miles long.

It takes persistence to be an author. Marcel Proust had to print "Swann's Way" at his own expense. William Faulkner's book "Sound and Fury" was turned down by 13 publishers. It took Theodore Dresier and Erskine Caldwell seven years to get their first novels published.

Of 300,000 known vegetables, only about 30 are widely used as human food.

The longest-lived birds, except for vultures and parrots are Canada geese. In captivity they have reached the age of 70.

Vampire bats can run on the ground as fast as a rat.

It was Wilson Mizner who observed, "I respect faith, but doubt is what gets you an education."

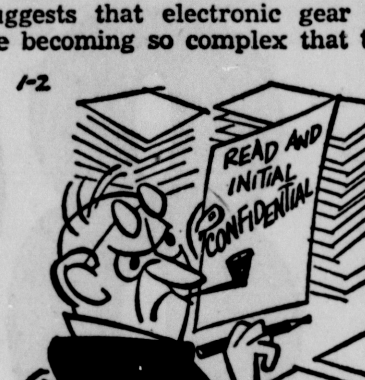
Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

BURDICK AND WHEELER'S un-put-downable new best-seller, "Fail-Safe," suggests that electronic gear and fantastic new weapons are becoming so complex that they are outstripping the ability of man to control them, and that the world may one day be destroyed by a nuclear war nobody wanted—that was begun by accident.



Implying that many secret documents are not properly digested by qualified recipients, Burdick and Wheeler tell of one official who stuffed a sixty-page essay by Ralph Waldo Emerson into a confidential memo addressed to his entire staff. The memo came back, duly initialed, but not one man made a single comment or raised one question about the contents!

* * *

"Sunday was always the noisiest day of the week in my family," recalled Buddy Hackett. "Everybody sang at the top of his lungs in the bathtub." "You all must have been full of animal spirits," commented a friend. "What do you mean, animal spirits?" countered Hackett. "Our bathroom door had no lock."

They have some odd weather out Oklahoma way. A news dispatch from one town in the Western end of that state, for instance, tells how half of Farmer Burt Quigley's barn was sheared off by a twister. While he was discussing with a builder plans for replacing it, another storm came along and blew down the half that remained!

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H FERN, M. D.

Dear Doctor: I feel woozy and lightheaded for an hour or so after getting up each morning. Why?
Mrs. W. M. (Calif.)

Dear Mrs. M.: When you lie flat, blood pressure falls. When you stand, automatic nerves raise blood pressure to guarantee adequate flow uphill to the brain.

Your automatic nerves may have grown sluggish.

Get up gradually. First sit; then dangle legs over the side, then stand. Give your system time to adapt

Special prescriptions also prevent your being caught standing with your blood pressure lying down!

Dear Doctor: Am I anemic? When I have to have a blood test, no one seems to be able to get enough blood out of my arm.
Mrs. M.T. (N. C.)

Dear Mrs. T: Quality counts more than quantity. Anemic people have just as much blood as everyone else. Their blood is simply more watery.

Your small veins probably collapse around the needle as the plunger is pulled back to draw out blood.

Dear Doctor: My feet sweat constantly The odor is embarrassing. What should I do?
Miss M. C. (N.Y.)

Dear Miss C: Perspiration has no odor until ordinary skin germs change its chemicals.

Wash feet twice daily with an antiseptic soap like Hexachlorophene liquid soap USP or pHisoHEX-R. Wipe with a 1 per cent formaldehyde solution to slow perspiration and kill more germs.

Dear Doctor: Do house cats carry germs? Should they be allowed to stay in the house with children?
Mrs. T. A. (Wash.)

Dear Mrs. A : Cats carry germs; so do dogs — and even people. Often, the animal germs can't spread to humans.

Pets like dogs or cats belong in the home. Part of growing up, they add to mental health by teaching youngsters responsibility for living things. Inside, cats destroy germ-carrying mice and rats; outside they're often too busy with other cats!

Dear Doctor: I bruise easily. Does this mean I have leukemia?
Mrs F. J. (Fla.)

Dear Mrs. J.: No. Your blood vessels may be brittle as glass. Tiny clotting cells may be missing, weak or all used up in clots inside the body.

Like leukemia, allergies, poisonings and tumors keep clotting cells from growing inside bone marrow. Perhaps, like hemophilia suffers, you lack an essential clotting chemical.

Only laboratory tests can pinpoint the trouble. Ask your doctor.

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — The Tax burden has been called too heavy by everyone from President Kennedy down to the lowliest taxpayer. It will be up for debate soon in Congress, many state legislatures and numerous local governing bodies.

Just how heavy is it?

The amount and impact has been collected by the Tax Foundation, a private non-profit organization keeping an eye on such matters. In the biennial publication, Facts and Figures on Government Finance, out today, the foundation looks at the total burden, how it is spent, how the public debt grows.

The totals are pretty high — the taxes, the spending, the debt. You might find them a help in understanding the pros and cons as Congress discusses whether the federal tax rates can or can't be cut, and if so how much.

In fiscal 1962 the Tax Foundation puts total government tax receipts at $140 billion, up $3 billion in the year. This includes federal, state and local collections. In 1950, these governments collected $54.8 billion.

President Kennedy says that while much of this is necessary to provide for defense and civil services, it still takes quite a chunk out of the purchasing power of American consumers and business firms that could be used to speed up economic growth.

The three levels of government spent $174 billion in fiscal 1962, the Foundation estimates. This is $10 billion more than in 1961 and compares with $70.3 billion in 1950.

Those who contend government should spend still more now, if it wants business to get out its present sluggish growth, hold that much of the $174 billion went towards keeping many individuals at work and many firms producing more than they otherwise would.

The Foundation puts the gross debt of federal , state and local governments at the end of fiscal 1962 at $379 billion, up $15 billion in the year, and comparing with $289 billion in 1952.

The debt total, with state and local components estimated by the Foundation, shows the federal tab as $298 billion, the local debt as $59 bilion, and the state as as $59 billion, and the state as since the end of fiscal 1962 has risen to more than $304 billion.)

Statisticians like to reduce these gross figures down to the average person or the average family. This can be done by dividing the totals by the latest figures or estimates on the number of persons or family units in the United States.

This means little, particularly in the matter of taxes, since few persons pay the average figures. But the foundation has done the arithmetic and here is how the tax burden, government spending and debt figures out for each of the family units now estimated to be in the United States.

The share of each family in total taxes collected in fiscal 1962 is put at $3,005, compared with $1,394 in 1950. Government spending comes to $3,739 for each family, against $1,800 in 1950. And each family's share of the debt of the three forms of government is $8,129, compared with $7,100 in 1952.

Jack's Capacity for Growth

By John Chamberlain

This is the time for resolutions and stocktaking. I haven't been at the job of writing a daily column for long enough to know what I should make resolutions about, but in taking stock for the future I find, amid a welter of perils, one thing that is vastly encouraging; we have a President who is willing to admit mistakes. In looking back on the Bay of Pigs catastrophe, even air cover was withheld from the brave Cubans who stormed the beach only to fall into Castro's clutches, President Kennedy has confessed that he personally pulled a boo-boo.

This, unless I have been alseep at certain important junctures during the past half century, is something that is absolutely unprecedented.

The standard high level procedure has been to admit nothing and, when things have obviously gone wrong, to pick out a convenient scapegoat and let him go to the sacrificial block.

Nobody in high places, for example, has confessed to making a mistake at Yalta. Nobody has stepped forward to take the blame for the physical isolation of West Berlin from the rest of the Free World. Nobody has accepted responsibility for confusing the Chinese Communists with the southern agrarians who put Thomas Jefferson into the White House in 1801. The list might be extended almost to infinity, but it is only charitable to limit it to a few examples.

While we are on the subject, however, it would be fair to recall that some of the sacrificial goats are still in the land of the living. It is still not too late for tendering the sort of apologies to them that might make their declining days a little happier than they are otherwise likely to be.

There is old Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, for example. He lives in Groton, Conn., not far from the Electric Boat Company shipyards in which the atomic submarines are outfitted. Amid the bustle of preparations for a possible naval war of the future, he broods upon naval campaigns of the past which he was compelled, as a sacrificial goat, to sit out.

Yet what did Admiral Kimmel, victim of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, do to deserve the role of goat? Far more was known in Washington than at Kimmel's post in Hawaii about the impending plans of the Japanese during that first ominous week of December in 1941. The Admiral's superiors, from Commander-in-Chief Roosevelt and Admiral Harold Stark on down, knew on December 6 from a cracked Japanese code message that war was coming somehow, somewhere, the next day, but no move was made to warn Pearl Harbor.

Unwilling to shoulder the blame for passiveness themselves, the Washington authorities foisted everything off on Kimmel and on the army commander in Hawaii, Lieutenant General Walter Short. General Short is now dead, and no apology can reach him, but Kimmel is very much alive — and still waiting vindication from those who might offer it to him.

Another sacrificial victim who still walks the earth is General Douglas MacArthur. He was removed from his Pacific command for having the temerity — and the foresight — to insist that the Chinese Communists were committed to riding an imperialist tide that could easily engulf the whole world. But nobody has apologized to him, or otherwise moved to remove the single official blot on his otherwise immaculate name.

The business of insisting on justice for sacrificial goats is an unprofitable one, for nobody likes to listen to a catalogue of reproaches that echoes that ancient refrain of "I told you so". It is far better when the author of a mistake speaks up and absolves the sacrificial goat on his own.

After the Bay of Pigs disaster, certain changes were made in the Central Intelligence Agency. Some C.I.A. people who had favord a "hard" approach to Castro disappeared from familiar haunts along the Potomac—and the natural conclusion was that they were being punished for advocating that air cover be extended to the Cuban invaders. If ancient precedent had continued to prevail, the injustice to the "hards" in the C.I.A. would never have been corrected. However, the miracle has happened: President Kennedy has inferentially confessed that the C.I.A. "hards" were right after all. And in taking the blame for error upon his own shoulders, he has shown that he has a rare potential both for fairness and for growth.

You're Telling Me!

By WILLIAM RITT
Central Press Writer

Three chicago surgeons have found their own blood donors. The Internal Revenue people knew it all the time.

When you're your own blood donor, they take the blood out beforehand, then pump it back in during an operation. The Internal Revenue people take it and pump it back into everybody.

If you're your own blood donor, you're sure to get the right type. Prevents bad blood between two people.

There is a division of opinion in Congress about a tax cut. Some congressmen don't think we can afford to cut taxes and others don't think we can afford to pay them.

Anti-New Frontier congressmen will be on the spot when a tax cut comes up. They'll be demmed if they do and demmed if they don't.

This tax cut business puts Kennedy in a real strategic position. Either "he" cuts taxes or "they" won't let him.

A tax cut is supposed to be a business stimulant. The stronger the stimulant, the rosier business looks.

A lot of Republicans don't want the "Ev and Charlie" show continued. Probably they feel the show should be behind some other kind of screen.

Dear Abby: by Abigail Van Buren

Own Up, Dearie!

DEAR ABBY: I'm a girl with a big problem. Awhile ago I wrote to my cousin and told her all about a boy friend of mine who doesn't exist. Recently she sent me a letter insisting that I send her a picture of my boy friend and me together. I can't send her any such picture because I made him up. Something has got to give. But what?

IMAGINATION

DEAR IMAGINATION: You've got to give. Give your cousin the straight dope. I doubt whether she will be surprised. I suspect the reason she asked for a picture of the two of you together was because she doubted he existed in the first place.

DEAR ABBY: Please answer quickly as possible as I am very disturbed. My daughter, 13, and her friend, 14, went to the drug store for me. When they got back my daughter told me that her friend had stolen some eye make-up and hair clips. She said she didn't see her friend take them but on the way home she showed them to her. Abby, I feel guilty for not being able to tell her mother. I would want to be told if my child did something wrong so I could correct her. But this girl's mother is so strange. Last year, when I caught the girls smoking, I told the mother of the other girl and she acted like it was all my daughter's fault. What should I do?

FEELING GUILTY

DEAR FEELING: Tell the mother of the girl. If she doesn't appreciate it, at least you will have done your duty. The little girl needs lots of help. If she doesn't shape up and get over tris kind of behavior, discourage your daughter's friendship with her. It's an unhealthy association.

DEAR ABBY: An elderly friend of mine showed me a lump on her chest the size of an egg. I asked if she'd been to a doctor and she said no, and it appears she won't go. I asked if she had told her daughter about it. (Her only daughter is about my age and lives 500 miles away.) She said no, she didn't want to "bother" her. I have met the daughter and have her address. I want to know if I should write an anonymous letter to the daughter telling her about her mother's lump. The old lady might have years to go without an operation, but what if she needs an operation and puts if off until it's too late?

TROUBLE FRIEND

DEAR TROUBLED: First try to persuade the woman to see a doctor. If she refuses, write the daughter, and sign your name. If she were YOUR mother you'd want to be told, wouldn't you.

DEAR ABBY: Being in a class with "NOSE BETTER," who wrote to you asking for a snappy retort for those insensitive clods who ask, "Why don't you get your nose fixed?'—my standard answer is, "It WAS fixed—it used to be over here!" Then I point to my right temple. Boy, that stops 'em.

UNCLE B

Five Points Group Enjoys Christmas Party

The Five Points Methodist Social Hour Club held their December meeting and Christmas Party Friday evening in the church basement. A covered dish dinner preceded the meeting.

Mrs. Clark Dennis, president, opened the meeting with group singing, "I Would Be True" followed by Scripture reading from Luke 2:1-14 verses by Mrs. Paul Dawson.

Roll call was answered by naming a favorite Christmas carol and Mrs. Francis Furniss read the secretary's report. Mrs. Ned Long read the treasurer's report and also reported on the bake sale. Birthday dues were paid by Mrs. Helen Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. Clark Dennis.

Officers for the new year are: Mrs. Elbee Jones, president; Mrs. Paul Dawson, vice president; Mrs. Francis Furniss, secretary; Mrs. Ned Long, treasurer; Mrs. Helen Phillips, cheer chairman.

Mrs. Jones gave a reading, "It Ain't the Gift" and Mrs. Phillips read, "It's a Good Land."

The meeting closed with the benediction and an exchange of gifts was enjoyed around the gaily lighted Christmas tree.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Long and family were hosts for the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Elbee Jones will be hosts for the Jan. 25 meeting.

Personals

William Jeffrey Dunlap has returned to O. J. C. College, Orlando, Fla., after spending Christmas with his grandmother, Mrs. Rockford Brown, 403 E. Mound St.

Liver Spots

Q. You say miracles do happen. I sure wish one would happen to me. I have "liver spots" all over my face and they are getting worse. What can I do?

A. Let's get one point clear. "Liver spots" represent a local skin condition and are not due to liver disease. A chemical is available which, when applied locally, may lighten the skin but at the risk of producing a cosmetic disaster. One difficulty is that the drug very often produces allergic sensitization. In addition, its bleaching action is highly unpredictable. Many people fail to experience any lightening (or the skin may become even darker), whereas others develop unsightly and sometimes permanent spotting or localized whitening which may extend to untreated areas. Try hiding the "liver spots" with a cosmetic "coverup." It's a lot safer than currently available methods of "bleaching" the skin.

Q. Is there a cure for plantar warts? I have been in misery for years.

A. There is a long list of "treatments" for these pesky foot lesions which someone characterized as "creations of the devil." Some doctors apply chemicals to the wart while others grind out the warty tissue with a high speed burr. Surgical removal is sometimes necessary when everything else fails. No one method seems to work in all patients but this need not discourage you from seeing a physician. Plantar warts can be cured . . . though it may take time and patience.

Acceptance of Patients

Q. Is a doctor required to accept anyone who presents himself for treatment?

A. A physician is free to accept or reject any person as a patient. He should not be required to perform in instances wherein he feels that he can not do what's best for the patient. However, once the physician accepts a person as a patient, he is legally responsible for his care. The doctor can, of course, withdraw from a case at any time after giving the patient adequate notice.

CLAIMS HE KILLED THEM—Elford Smith Lawless (above), in jail in Los Angeles on a drunk charge, told authorities that he is the man who killed the Grimes sisters, Barbara, 15, and (lower) Patricia, 13, in Chicago in 1956. They disappeared after leaving home for a movie, and their bodies were found in a wooded area nearly a month later. "Confession" of Lawless, 34, makes about a dozen such.

Running in the Purple

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — County Judge Arch Campbell has made purple his official color. All county road machinery and other public vehicles are painted a dazzling shade of purple. The judge has the paint made in a factory from his own special formula. And every two years when he runs for reelection, his campaign signs consist of simple purple posters with no lettering at all.

U.S. Diplomats Keep Ear Tuned to Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department, while worrying about the world, must not forget Congress.

Sometimes the public pictures the secretary of state and his men rushing about the world shoring up alliances, signing agreements, outmaneuvering Communists.

The role of Congress in all this seems obscure. To the State Department, the presence of Congress is clear and near. The department cannot do the job without the cooperation of congressmen. It maintains an extensive operation keep that cooperation.

In 1949, the department formally opened an Office of Congressional Relations, now headed by Frederick G. Dutton, assistant secretary of state.

The aim of the office is evident: to influence congressmen to support foreign policy decisions of the President and the State Department. Another aim is to keep on good terms with congressmen so they don't oppose State Department requests out of pique and frustration.

The recent trip of Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., to Africa, and the resulting controversy, exposed for public view some of the delicate and intense relations between the State Department and Congress.

Ellender, by his remarks about Africans, embarrassed the state department. The department tried to save some face without embarrassing Ellender.

Handling congressional tours overseas is part of the work of Dutton's office.

In 1961, the office arranged 205 trips for 780 congressmen and members of their staffs. The 1962 total of congressmen and staff members on tour probably reach a thousand.

On Dec. 1, in Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia, Ellender made the remarks that embarrased the State Department.

"I have yet to meet any Africans who have the capability to run their own affairs," he said, "and I have never yet seen any area where the Africans built up anything for themselves. It is always the whites who are responsible for progress in Africa."

Perhaps the first reaction at the State Department was to slap Ellender down. But slapping down a member of Congress is a luxury no State Department may indulge in.

The Kennedy administration may need Ellender some day. In fact, he already has been of considerable service to the administration as chairman of the Senate Agricultural Committee, helping guide farm bills through the Senate.

So that State Department issued some statements noting that Ellender's views were his own and not those of the Kennedy administration.

The State Department has the primary responsibility for American foreign policy, but it can not move too far without the cooperation of Congress.

Farm Roundup

Freeman Seeks Extension, Aid Under One Roof

WASHINGTON (AP) —A decision by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman to bring the same department tent with the politically oriented farm aid programs is expected to bring repercussions in Congress and in some farm groups.

The Extension Service, the educational arm of the department, has been placed under direct supervision of Asst. Secretary John P. Duncan Jr., who also has charge of the controversial crop control, price support, surplus management and other farm aid programs. Duncan also has under his supervision the department's broad marketing activities.

In the past, the Extension Service has been separated in the department organization from the so-called economic action programs.

The thing that may set off outside criticism is the fact that Duncan said the Extension Service will be used to help educate individual farmers on the various farm control, price support and related programs.

Heretofore, the Extension Service has generally limited its educational work to passing along to farmers results of agricultural research.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Council of Farmer Cooperatives will hold its annual meeting at Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 7-9.

The council plans to focus its attention on how the farm cooperative can help farmer members adjust to modern-day mechanized agriculture.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Agriculture Department report today will show how much this year's farm product prices gained over 1961.

To be issued in mid-afternoon, the report will give the level of prices farmers received this month compared with a month ago and a year ago. In November, farm prices were running slightly more than 2 per cent above year earlier levels and nearly 3 per cent above two years earlier.

But much of the gain to November had been offset by increases in prices farmers paid for goods and services used in production and family living. These latter prices were running 1.6 per cent higher in November than at the end of 1961.

Farm prices were averaging 80 per cent of the parity price goal of federal farm programs late this year, compared with 79 per cent a year earlier.

Red-Hot Pup

NOVATO, Calif. (AP) — Edward Satchell's dog had been sick. So he put an electric pad in the doghouse underneath the carport.

"Your carport is on fire!" neighbors telephoned at 4:30 a. m.

Satchell saved his car and the dog was unharmed. But the baze caused $1,500 damage.

More Labor Trouble Faces Newspapers

CLEVELAND (AP) — A unity committee representing 10 newspaper unions says several of the unions will not go back to work at Cleveland's two strikebound daily newspapers until they have new contract settlements.

Charles Thomson, chairman of the committee, pointed out Tuesday night that the contracts of six non-striking unions have expired and said, "The publishers will have to settle favorably with these other unions before newspapers can be published again."

He is secretary-treasurer of the Photo-Engravers Union, whose contract with the morning Plain Dealer and the afternoon Press and News expired Nov. 30.

The papers have not published since Teamsters Local 473 started picketing the two plants the night of Nov. 29. The Cleveland Newspaper Guild joined the walkout the following day.

A holiday recess in negotiations with the Guild ends today. Bargaining teams for the Guild and the papers are scheduled to resume talks at 2:30 p.m. The two groups have not met since Saturday afternoon.

No date has been set for resumption of negotiations with the Teamsters.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

A stationary high pressure area part of the state, skies continued cloudy during the night.

Early this morning, Columbus had a temperature of 9, Zanesville 6 and Toledo 3.

In the extreme northeastern northeastern part of the state, skies continued cloudy during the night.

Today will be sunny over most of Ohio, but cloudiness is forecast to increase tonight and Thursday as a low pressure system over Missouri moves eastward.

Temperature moderation may be expected tonight and Thursday as winds turn to southeasterly.

Little or no preceipitation is expected through Thursday.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECASTS

NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average four to seven degrees below normal. Normal high 35, normal low near 20. Moderating temperatures until colder toward end of week, not so cold early next week. Precipitation will average two-tenths to four-tenths of an inch melted with fairly frequent periods of light snow or flurries.

SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO—Temperatures will average three to five degrees below normal. Normal high 38-44, normal low 22-28. A little warmer Thursday, colder Friday, moderating Saturday and Sunday, colder Monday. Precipitation will average about one-fourth inch as rain or snow Sunday or Monday.

CLOSING—"Prince" Mike Romanoff stands saturninely in front of his restaurant, Romanoff's, in Beverly Hills, Calif., contemplating its final hours, New Year's Eve. That's the last night for the posh Hollywood-patronized eatery. The changing times and conditions influenced the closing. Maybe having made a lot of money did, too.

U. S. To Keep Fingers Crossed As New Business Year Starts

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)— This year business starts off with fingers crossed. A year ago it was expecting big things. A new boom was being forecast by many economists, particularly those in government posts.

This year turned out to be a good one, as a matter of fact, with 1962 setting highs in many lines of industry and trade, in personal incomes and total employment. It just wasn't the smasher that the prophets had led people to expect.

In this new year there are also some high hopes. They largely revolve around the chance of a federal tax cut and the prospect of greater government spending.

Many industrial economists think the two together could spell a better year in 1963 than we had in 1962.

Others, more cautious, say that these two factors, if they develop on schedule, could at least keep any business slowdown from becoming a major one, and later could spell another moderate advance.

But the majority this time prefers to keep fingers crossed. There are three factors in the domestic economy that will decide what kind of a year it will be, and there are uncertainties at the moment as to the course of all three.

First is consumer spending. This has been going along at a good clip. People haven't been splurging. But neither have they been scrimping. If nothing shakes their confidence in the future they may go on spending at about the same rate as now.

The uncertain factors here are how to bring more persons off the jobless rolls and into the income earning class and whether upcoming wage negotiations will mean an increase in take home pay or whether spreading mechanization will cause more unemployment and thus cut total consumer spending power.

The second factor in the economy is how mech business itself will spend. At present it appears it will spend about the same, or at least only a little more, on plants and equipment than it did in 1962.

And a third factor in the economy is how much business itself seems sure to rise moderately, no matter what Congress does. But if Congress should decide on pump priming and more spending, or if a new international crisis should arise, government spending could add a sizable amount in total outlays.

And the most publicized uncertainty at the moment is tax cutting. What Congress does could have quite an effect on the economy, both in dollars and is psychology.

A tax cut for individuals could increase consumer spending. A cut for corporations could boost business spending.

Charles Thomson, chairman of the committee, pointed out Tuesday night that the contracts of six non-striking unions have expired and said, "The publishers will have to settle favorably with these other unions before newspapers can be published again."

He is secretary-treasurer of the Photo-Engravers Union, whose contract with the morning Plain Dealer and the afternoon Press and News expired Nov. 30.

The papers have not published since Teamsters Local 473 started picketing the two plants the night of Nov. 29. The Cleveland Newspaper Guild joined the walkout the following day.

A holiday recess in negotiations with the Guild ends today. Bargaining teams for the Guild and the papers are scheduled to resume talks at 2:30 p.m. The two groups have not met since Saturday afternoon.

No date has been set for resumption of negotiations with the Teamsters.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

A stationary high pressure area part of the state, skies continued cloudy during the night.

Early this morning, Columbus had a temperature of 9, Zanesville 6 and Toledo 3.

In the extreme northeastern northeastern part of the state, skies continued cloudy during the night.

Today will be sunny over most of Ohio, but cloudiness is forecast to increase tonight and Thursday as a low pressure system over Missouri moves eastward.

Temperature moderation may be expected tonight and Thursday as winds turn to southeasterly.

Little or no preceipitation is expected through Thursday.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECASTS

NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average four to seven degrees below normal. Normal high 35, normal low near 20. Moderating temperatures until colder toward end of week, not so cold early next week. Precipitation will average two-tenths to four-tenths of an inch melted with fairly frequent periods of light snow or flurries.

SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO—Temperatures will average three to five degrees below normal. Normal high 38-44, normal low 22-28. A little warmer Thursday, colder Friday, moderating Saturday and Sunday, colder Monday. Precipitation will average about one-fourth inch as rain or snow Sunday or Monday.

CLOSING—"Prince" Mike Romanoff stands saturninely in front of his restaurant, Romanoff's, in Beverly Hills, Calif., contemplating its final hours, New Year's Eve. That's the last night for the posh Hollywood-patronized eatery. The changing times and conditions influenced the closing. Maybe having made a lot of money did, too.

U. S. To Keep Fingers Crossed As New Business Year Starts

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)— This year business starts off with fingers crossed. A year ago it was expecting big things. A new boom was being forecast by many economists, particularly those in government posts.

This year turned out to be a good one, as a matter of fact, with 1962 setting highs in many lines of industry and trade, in personal incomes and total employment. It just wasn't the smasher that the prophets had led people to expect.

In this new year there are also some high hopes. They largely revolve around the chance of a federal tax cut and the prospect of greater government spending.

Many industrial economists think the two together could spell a better year in 1963 than we had in 1962.

Others, more cautious, say that these two factors, if they develop on schedule, could at least keep any business slowdown from becoming a major one, and later could spell another moderate advance.

But the majority this time prefers to keep fingers crossed. There are three factors in the domestic economy that will decide what kind of a year it will be, and there are uncertainties at the moment as to the course of all three.

First is consumer spending. This has been going along at a good clip. People haven't been splurging. But neither have they been scrimping. If nothing shakes their confidence in the future they may go on spending at about the same rate as now.

The uncertain factors here are how to bring more persons off the jobless rolls and into the income earning class and whether upcoming wage negotiations will mean an increase in take home pay or whether spreading mechanization will cause more unemployment and thus cut total consumer spending power.

The second factor in the economy is how much business itself will spend. At present it appears it will spend about the same, or at least only a little more, on plants and equipment than it did in 1962.

And a third factor in the economy is how much business itself seems sure to rise moderately, no matter what Congress does. But if Congress should decide on pump priming and more spending, or if a new international crisis should arise, government spending could add a sizable amount in total outlays.

And the most publicized uncertainty at the moment is tax cutting. What Congress does could have quite an effect on the economy, both in dollars and is psychology.

A tax cut for individuals could increase consumer spending. A cut for corporations could boost business spending.

Khrushchev Faces Rough Time in '63

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev has just finished the worst year he has had since Stalin, and he is due for a tough year ahead.

The thing that made 1962 so bad for him was the same island—Cuba — that made 1961 bad for President Kennedy.

Cuba put Premier Khrushchev on the defensive in the cold war and in the qually troublesome battle for leadership in the Communist camp.

In the Soviet Union he put the best possible light on the Cuba fiasco. It has been pictured not only by the premier himself but in dozens of newspapers and magazines as a victory for Khrushchev. They say he saved mankind from a nuclear war the Americans were ready to force on the world if the Soviet Union had not acted.

The story is believed here, to some degree, but not completely.

One of the troublsome items is the split with China. Soviet people don't know much about it yet, but they are beginning to understand that China is challenging the Soviet Union for leadership in the Communist camp.

But after all, China is far away. What hits closer to home is the continued difficulty with the economy.

Every Soviet citizen knows about that. He meets it across the counter in the butcher shop, where fresh meat is extremly scarce. H sees a few tomatos on the open market. A pound can cost a skilled mecranic a day's wages.

Soviet authorities have not been able to conceal the hard fact that while production is increasing, it is not increasing as fast as it should. That is especially true in agriculture.

The top party leaders bewail lack of enthusiasm for hard work on the part of farmers and shopworkers. The zeal to work for the revolution has diminished. When things get bad people may pack up and quit.

All these things put new troubles on the back of Premier Khrushchev, and it can't be forgotten he is approaching 70.

Kennedy Willing To OK Gradual Slash in Taxes

will face very tough going. Even so, it has powerful support from important business and labor union spokesmen, who concur with the President's argument that high taxes act as a drag on economic growth.

On the other side, congressional conservatives worry about the impact of a tax cut on a federal deficit that—even if the bill does not pass—is expected to run about $6 billion in the new fiscal year that begins next July 1.

Kennedy is much concerned too, about other controversial items in his legislative package, notably aid to education and medical care for the aged through Social Security. Both have failed to pass two years running and an effort will be made in 1963 to "make them more palatable" or, in the words of one official, to unite their friends rather than their enemies.

Despite this effort, it is doubtful that Kennedy entertains much optimism about the chances of passage.

In one sense, these two measures figure prominently in Kennedy's thinking because he blames them for the talk that, as president, he hasn't been tremendously successful with Congress.

Despite the prodding of some supporters, Kennedy's own policy opposes a presidential delcaration of war on Congress—particularly when it is controlled by members of his own party. He regards this as a losing proposition from the start and keeps in mind that a Wilbur Mills may be an obstacle to tax reduction but had much to do with passage last year of the controversial tariff revision law.

If the President could do anything about Congress, he probably would reform the seniority system that gives powerful committee posts to, in recent years, Southern Democrats or conservative Republicans. But he isn't about to recommend anything along that line, this being a jealously guarded prerogative of members of Congress.

On other domestic matters, this was a sampling of Kennedy's present thinking, as reported by very close associates:

Labor strife is a growing problem. Economic issues are more easily resolved than the problems of automation that are becoming more prominent in negotiations.

A start has been made on solving the feed grains price support problem but dairy supports present a major difficulty.

As everyone has suspected, Kennedy is prepared to run for a second term in 1964 but isn't prepared to predict the identity of his Republican opponent. While he doesn't think former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, his 1960 adversary, is dead politically, he certainly doesn't give Nixon first place among possible contenders.

Measured by economic statistics, the state of the Union this January is slightly better than a year ago. But the future is marked by more perils, and opportunities.

On foreign policy questions, Kennedy wants the overthrow of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro but has no intention of invading the island, or permitting an assault by Cuban exiles. Also, he has grave doubts about French willingness to go along with multination control of nuclear weapons and he may get together soon with President Charles de Gaulle to discuss the question.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 2, the second day of 1963. There are 363 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1900, Secretary of State John Hay announced the Open Door policy in China. The agreement aimed at guaranteeing equal rights for all interestd nations in trade with China and special advantages for none.

On this day:

In 1492, the Spaniards took Granada from the Moors.

In 1788, Georgia became the fourth state to ratify the Constitution.

In 1863, the Civil War battle of Murfreesboro was fought in Tennessee.

In 1935, Bruno Richard Hauptmann went on trial at Flemington, N.J., for the kidnap-murder of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr.

In 1959, Fidel Castro's revolutionaries entered Havana and named a provisional president to replace Fulgencio Batista.

In 1953, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio was named Senate Republican leader without challenge.

Today's birthdays:

Norwegian dancer-actress Verz Zeorina is 45. Italian opera singer Tito Schipa is 72.

Thought for today:

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new year started with blood — fighting in the Congo and Viet Nam — just as 1962 started with assassinations in 'lgeria. Yet 1963 may be far less hair-raising, although much more talkative, than the year just ended.

If it is, it will be because 1962 turned out to be such a shocker before it was over. This was the Cuban crisis. No sign of any such crisis is in sight now. If anything, relations between the United States and Russia should be a litte more sensible.

The biggest hope in the West is that the Soviet - Red Chinese partnership will split and, in splitting, cut the Communist world in half. Their relation now are strained to bursting by recriminations whose real origins no doubt run deeper than anyone here knows.

The biggest immediate problem of the West is whether Western Europe shall achieve real economic unity and whether, particularly in the case of France, it will be content to save its money by letting the United States remain its nuclear guardian.

The Agerian massacres ended at last in 1962 in independence from France for the Algerians. The struggles in the Congo and Viet Nam were going on last year, and the year before, and in one form or another will probably be there in 1964, too.

They can be lived with so long as they remain dilemmas on the fringes of the rest of the world.

What did not end until last year was almost over was the reckless — crazy is a better word — determination of communism to test the will of the United States to resist a Red push even in its own back yard.

This Russian attempt to slip missiles into Cuba was a gamble as the Soviets demonstrated by backing down when chalenged. What they showed was that they positively lacked the will, and very probably the weapons for a showdown, at least then.

Premier Khrushchev cannot survive many such humiliating defeats, although in typical Moscow fashion he sought to make his withdrawal look like the act of a humanitarian.

Therefore, it can reasonably be expected he will now pause for station identification before taking another risk. He has shown signs of soft-pedalling his demands on Berlin.

After the Cuban crisis there were optimistic pronouncements out of Washington that big changes were in the making around the world. They may be, indeed. But as of now there is no evidence to support the optimism.

Khrushchev's pause can take tw forms:

1. He can make tremendous effort to achieve overwhelming weapons superiority for Russia. If that could be done, it would take years. But it would also mean enormous sacrifices for the Russian people who are just beginning to enjoy some comforts.

2. He can drop his ambitions for a Communist world — at least for a time — and seek reasonable relations, perhaps even solutions, with his Western neighbors.

This will become a necessity for him if Russia splits with Red China.

Although the Cuban crisis demonstrated that nuclear chaos can happen suddenly, it seems highly unlikey that the United States and Russia will in 1963 agree to disarmament or perhaps even to an inspected ban on nuclear testing.

Neither is likely to strip or limit itself in weapons — even if they could otherwise agree — so long as Red China remains both hostile and unpredictable, continues to build its arms, and is not a party to agreement.

These next few years will seem extraordinarily calm and uncomlicated compared with what lies ahead when Red China develops its own nuclear weapons and begins to assert itself in a way which is too risky so long as it lacks such weapons.

Europe — meaning Britain and France — is so far behind the United States in the development of nuclear weapons it would take years, if ever, to catch up. The United States is against their trying.

It offers itself as the loyal ally who will use its weapons to protect Europe in case of need. It suggests its allies put their money into things other than trying to build individual nuclear forces.

This has not pleased French President de Gaulle. He may resist, preferring his usual do-it-yourself system for France. This whole problem will be formented and tortured in the debates of 1963.

So will Europe's economic unity and, in one fashion or another, this country's role in that unity. It will be a big and busy year, certainly big in talk.

Trotwood Water Emergency Ends

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A break in an eight-inch feeder water main in suburban Trotwood was repaired early today, and the state of emergency imposed by the mayor was lifted, the Montgomery County sheriff's office reported.

The break occurred in the downtown area, reducing water pressure by half in the city and leaving Trotwood Heights without any pressure.

Khrushchev Faces Rough Time in '63

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev has just finished the worst year he has had since Stalin, and he is due for a tough year ahead.

The thing that made 1962 so bad for him was the same island—Cuba — that made 1961 bad for President Kennedy.

Cuba put Premier Khrushchev on the defensive in the cold war and in the qually troublesome battle for leadership in the Communist camp.

In the Soviet Union he put the best possible light on the Cuba fiasco. It has been pictured not only by the premier himself but in dozens of newspapers and magazines as a victory for Khrushchev. They say he saved mankind from a nuclear war the Americans were ready to force on the world if the Soviet Union had not acted.

The story is believed here, to some degree, but not completely.

One of the troublsome items is the split with China. Soviet people don't know much about it yet, but they are beginning to understand that China is challenging the Soviet Union for leadership in the Communist camp.

But after all, China is far away. What hits closer to home is the continued difficulty with the economy.

Every Soviet citizen knows about that. He meets it across the counter in the butcher shop, where fresh meat is extremly scarce. H sees a few tomatos on the open market. A pound can cost a skilled mecranic a day's wages.

Soviet authorities have not been able to conceal the hard fact that while production is increasing, it is not increasing as fast as it should. That is especially true in agriculture.

The top party leaders bewail lack of enthusiasm for hard work on the part of farmers and shopworkers. The zeal to work for the revolution has diminished. When things get bad people may pack up and quit.

All these things put new troubles on the back of Premier Khrushchev, and it can't be forgotten he is approaching 70.

Kennedy Willing To OK Gradual Slash in Taxes

will face very tough going. Even so, it has powerful support from important business and labor union spokesmen, who concur with the President's argument that high taxes act as a drag on economic growth.

On the other side, congressional conservatives worry about the impact of a tax cut on a federal deficit that—even if the bill does not pass—is expected to run about $6 billion in the new fiscal year that begins next July 1.

Kennedy is much concerned too, about other controversial items in his legislative package, notably aid to education and medical care for the aged through Social Security. Both have failed to pass two years running and an effort will be made in 1963 to "make them more palatable" or, in the words, of one official, to unite their friends rather than their enemies.

Despite this effort, it is doubtful that Kennedy entertains much optimism about the chances of passage.

In one sense, these two measures figure prominently in Kennedy's thinking because he blames them for the talk that, as president, he hasn't been tremendously successful with Congress.

Despite the prodding of some supporters, Kennedy's own policy opposes a presidential delcaration of war on Congress—particularly when it is controlled by members of his own party. He regards this as a losing proposition from the start and keeps in mind that a Wilbur Mills may be an obstacle to tax reduction but had much to do with passage last year of the controversial tariff revision law.

If the President could do anything about Congress, he probably would reform the seniority system that gives powerful committee posts to, in recent years, Southern Democrats or conservative Republicans. But he isn't about to recommend anything along that line, this being a jealously guarded prerogative of members of Congress.

On other domestic matters, this was a sampling of Kennedy's present thinking, as reported by very close associates:

Labor strife is a growing problem. Economic issues are more easily resolved than the problems of automation that are becoming more prominent in negotiations.

A start has been made on solving the feed grains price support problem but dairy supports present a major difficulty.

As everyone has suspected, Kennedy is prepared to run for a second term in 1964 but isn't prepared to predict the identity of his Republican opponent. While he doesn't think former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, his 1960 adversary, is dead politically, he certainly doesn't give Nixon first place among possible contenders.

Measured by economic statistics, the state of the Union this January is slightly better than a year ago. But the future is marked by more perils, and opportunities.

On foreign policy questions, Kennedy wants the overthrow of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro but has no intention of invading the island, or permitting an assault by Cuban exiles. Also, he has grave doubts about French willingness to go along with multination control of nuclear weapons and he may get together soon with President Charles de Gaulle to discuss the question.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 2, the second day of 1963. There are 363 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1900, Secretary of State John Hay announced the Open Door policy in China. The agreement aimed at guaranteeing equal rights for all interestd nations in trade with China and special advantages for none.

On this day:

In 1492, the Spaniards took Granada from the Moors.

In 1788, Georgia became the fourth state to ratify the Constitution.

In 1863, the Civil War battle of Murfreesboro was fought in Tennessee.

In 1935, Bruno Richard Hauptmann went on trial at Flemington, N.J., for the kidnap-murder of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr.

In 1959, Fidel Castro's revolutionaries entered Havana and named a provisional president to replace Fulgencio Batista.

In 1953, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio was named Senate Republican leader without challenge.

Today's birthdays:

Norwegian dancer-actress Verz Zeorina is 45. Italian opera singer Tito Schipa is 72.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new year started with blood — fighting in the Congo and Viet Nam — just as 1962 started with assassinations in Algeria. Yet 1963 may be far less hair-raising, although much more talkative, than the year just ended.

If it is, it will be because 1962 turned out to be such a shocker before it was over. This was the Cuban crisis. No sign of any such crisis is in sight now. If anything, relations between the United States and Russia should be a litte more sensible.

The biggest hope in the West is that the Soviet - Red Chinese partnership will split and, in splitting, cut the Communist world in half. Their relation now are strained to bursting by recriminations whose real origins no doubt run deeper than anyone here knows.

The biggest immediate problem of the West is whether Western Europe shall achieve real economic unity and whether, particularly in the case of France, it will be content to save its money by letting the United States remain its nuclear guardian.

The Agerian massacres ended at last in 1962 in independence from France for the Algerians. The struggles in the Congo and Viet Nam were going on last year, and the year before, and in one form or another will probably be there in 1964, too.

They can be lived with so long as they remain dilemmas on the fringes of the rest of the world.

What did not end until last year was almost over was the reckless — crazy is a better word — determination of communism to test the will of the United States to resist a Red push even in its own back yard.

This Russian attempt to slip missiles into Cuba was a gamble as the Soviets demonstrated by backing down when chalenged. What they showed was that they positively lacked the will, and very probably the weapons for a showdown, at least then.

Premier Khrushchev cannot survive many such humiliating defeats, although in typical Moscow fashion he sought to make his withdrawal look like the act of a humanitarian.

Therefore, it can reasonably be expected he will now pause for station identification before taking another risk. He has shown signs of soft-pedalling his demands on Berlin.

After the Cuban crisis there were optimistic pronouncements out of Washington that big changes were in the making around the world. They may be, indeed. But as of now there is no evidence to support the optimism.

Khrushchev's pause can take two forms:

1. He can make tremendous effort to achieve overwhelming weapons superiority for Russia. If that could be done, it would take years. But it would also mean enormous sacrifices for the Russian people who are just beginning to enjoy some comforts.

2. He can drop his ambitions for a Communist world — at least for a time — and seek reasonable relations, perhaps even solutions, with his Western neighbors.

This will become a necessity for him if Russia splits with Red China.

Although the Cuban crisis demonstrated that nuclear chaos can happen suddenly, it seems highly unlikey that the United States and Russia will in 1963 agree to disarmament or perhaps even to an inspected ban on nuclear testing.

Neither is likely to strip or limit itself in weapons — even if they could otherwise agree — so long as Red China remains both hostile and unpredictable, continues to build its arms, and is not a party to agreement.

These next few years will seem extraordinarily calm and uncomlicated compared with what lies ahead when Red China develops its own nuclear weapons and begins to assert itself in a way which is too risky so long as it lacks such weapons.

Europe — meaning Britain and France — is so far behind the United States in the development of nuclear weapons it would take years, if ever, to catch up. The United States is against their trying.

It offers itself as the loyal ally who will use its weapons to protect Europe in case of need. It suggests its allies put their money into things other than trying to build individual nuclear forces.

This has not pleased French President de Gaulle. He may resist, preferring his usual do-it-yourself system for France. This whole problem will be formented and tortured in the debates of 1963.

So will Europe's economic unity and, in one fashion or another, this country's role in that unity. It will be a big and busy year, certainly big in talk.

Trotwood Water Emergency Ends

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A break in an eight-inch feeder water main in suburban Trotwood was repaired early today, and the state of emergency imposed by the mayor was lifted, the Montgomery County sheriff's office reported.

The break occurred in the downtown area, reducing water pressure by half in the city and leaving Trotwood Heights without any pressure.

Ohio College Cagers Ready For Final Grind of Season

By THE ASSOCITED PRESS

The glitter and drama of collegiate basketball's holiday tournament is over. Now Ohio's hoopsters settle down to the all-important task of battling it out for league championships and spots in he post-season NCAA and National Invitation tournaments.

The Buckeye teams ease gently this week into their free-for-all efforts to hammer out trophies for themselves. Thirty-two games are scheduled for the remaining four days of this week, but only 11 of them are league games.

Only one conference in the state can claim a leader at the moment.

In the Mid-American Conference, Bowing Green and Ohio University are tied for the top spot with 1-0 records, a situation which won't last long. The Bobcats invade the Bee-Gees' court Saturday in a contest which could ultimately decide the championship and the slot in the big NCAA tourney that automatically goes with it.

Although it seems unlikely, Bowling Green could relinquish its share of the lead before the Saturday meeting with the Bobcats. The Falcons take on Western Michigan in a league battle tonight, and a home court defeat would put the Falcons a half-game behind the Bobcats.

The Ohio Conference is knotted up three ways with Akron, Ohio Wesleyan and Witenberg all straining at their bits to burst out in front. Both Wittenberg and Akron play two games this week, but only Wittenberg lays its claim to the league lead on the line—in a game Saturday against invading Muskingum. The Tigers warm up for the game tonight by playing host to Central State in a non-league bout.

Ohio Wesleyan takes on Ohio University in an intersectional fray tonight, and Akron, on a visit to the nation's capital, battles Catholic University Friday and American University Saturday.

The Mid-Ohio Conference is the only Buckeye circuit which currently has a team on top of the pack. Wilmington (2-0) is out in front, with Defiance right behind with 1-0. Both teams play non-league games Saturday, with Ashland invading Wilmington and Goshen (Ind.) at Defiance.

The Presidents' Athletic Conference has two out-of-staters on top—Washington & Jefferson and Bethany, both at 1-0. John Carroll and Case Tech are right behind with '11. No conference games are scheduled this week.

Of course, all Buckeye fans are looking forward to Saturday's game between Ohio State and Minnesota — a contest which marks the start of play in the Big Ten.

Ohio State, now 7-1 for the season, completed its preliminary skirmishing New Year's Eve with a 97-91 victory over Brigham Young and now sets its sights on a fourth straight conference championship. Minnesota brings a 4-6 season record to the Buckeye lair Saturday.

Other highlights this week include Houston at Cincinnati tonight, Dayton at Xavier Thursday and Wichita at Cincinnati Saturday.

One-Time Boxing Champ Dies at 48

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Alberto (Baby) Arizmendi, who in 1934 won a share of the disputed featherweight championship, is dead.

The specific cause of his death Monday in the Veterans Administration Hospital at West Los Angeles has not been announced. The hospital said he died of natural causes. He was 48.

Born at Torreon, Mexico, Arizmendi decisioned Kid Pancho in Mexico City in 1931 to win the Mexico bantamweight crown.

Arizmendi's record as a featherweight, lightweight and weterweight was 50 victories, 25 losses and 11 draws. He served in the Navy in World War II.

He leaves his widow, Henrietta.

Tightened Boxing Rules Are Urged

NEW YORK (AP)—The men who write about boxing said today the sport should be more closely regulated but should not be outlawed.

The Boxing Writers Association sent a four-page statement to the New York State Joint Legislative Commitee on Professional Boxing, urging mandatory spacing of fights, additional examinations of boxers and better screening of officials.

The committee has been conducting hearings to decide whether boxing should be outlawed in the state. It was set up after the death of former welterweight champion Benney (Kid) Paret from injuries suffered in a bout with Emile Griffith at Madison Square Garden last March.

Bearcats Aim For No. 28

Houston Set To Test Cincinnati Champions

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The last time Cincinnati was beaten, the Bearcats had run up a record of 27 straight victories. Now they've reached 27 games without a loss again and tonight take on Houston at home.

It was in Dec. 1961 that Coach Ed Jucker's two-time NCAA champions were ambushed by Wichita, 52-51. Since then, except for a loss to Bradley they have mowed down all their opposition, including dreaded Ohio State in the NCAA finals.

Houston shows a mediocre 7-5 record, but the Cougars lost two of their games in overtime—to Michigan and, in the Sugar Bowl Tournament, to Auburn — and could be tough.

Jucker is worried, too, over the condition of 6-foot-8 Dale Heidotting, who injured an ankle last week and probably won't play. This is the final non-league game for the Bearcats, No. 1 in the current Associated Press poll, before they begin Missouri Valley operations Saturday against—of all teams—Wichita.

Duke is the only other ranked team scheduled to play tonight. The Blue Devils, No. 7, with high hopes of sweeping through the Atlantic Coast Conference, play Vrginia on their home court and should have no trouble.

Georgia Tech, a team to be reckoned with in the Southeastern conference puts its undefeated (7-0) record on the line at home against the Air Force Academy in its final warmup before starting league action against Kentucky Saturday.

In other major games tonight, Brigham Young is at Memphis State, Yale is at North Carolina, Cornell is at North Carolina State, Florida State is at Tennessee, Indiana plays giant-killer Notre Dame (the Irish knocked Illinos from the undefeated ranks Monday) at Fort Wayne, Ind., and Drake is at Purdue.

Tigers Host Franklin Heights Friday in SCO League Game

The Circleville High School basketball team will resume action Friday, hosting Franklin Heights in a South Central Ohio league encounter.

The Tigers, although practicing nearly every day and engaging in four scrimmages, during school vacation have not played an official game since Dec. 21.

Paul Reiss' charges own a 3-4 overall record and are still in the South Central Ohio League race with a 1-2 record. All other teams in the league have lost at least one game.

Franklin Heights brings a 1-6 slate into the Mill St. gymnasium. They have scored 306 points while allowing the opposition to tally 437.

* * *

THE TIGERS have accumulated 361 points in seven games and opponents have tallied 384.

Reiss has announced a probable starting five for the Tiger-Falcon battle. He said Clesson Thomas will start at center, with either Bob Waple or Dave Hannahs at one forward position and Tom Smith at the other. Guards will probably be Dave Bass and Garold Dade, although the Tiger mentor noted that Bob Purcell has a good chance to win the starting nod.

Next week the Circleville gym will be invaded by Wilmington tied for the league lead with Miami Trace. The following Tuesday, Jan. 15, the Circleville - Greenfield game originally scheduled for Dec. 7 will be played here.

During practices and scrimmages Reiss noted Tigers looked real good at times and seemed to be showing improvement.

Other games around the SCO this week find Miami Trace at Washington C. H., Hillsboro at Wilmington, and Pleasant View at Greenfield. Saturday Columbus Bishop Hartley travels to Pleasant View and Greenfield hosts Chillicothe.

Nominations Open For Scioto Downs Challenge Stakes

Nominations are being accepted for the Scioto Downs Challenge Stakes No. 2 to be raced at the Downs during the 1963 meeting scheduled to open May 31.

The stake race, inaugurated at Scioto Downs during the 1962 night harness racing season, will stage events for 2-year-old trotters and 2-year-old pacers during the coming year, with the 3-year-old events scheduled for 1964 and the 4-year-old events set for 1965.

All nominations to challenge stakes No. 2 will close January 15. The nomination fee is $30.

Highly pleased with the first Challenge Stakes staged last year, Scioto Downs president Charles D. Hill stated: "We had 320 nominations to the first Challenge Stake and already many of the sport's leading horsemen are planning to nominate their outstanding two-year-olds to the second stake."

Last year the total purse in the 2-year-old trotting division with 18 starters amounted to $8,195 while he 2-year-old pacing division with 18 starters totaled $8,400.

The sustaining payment for 3-year-olds on Challenge Stakes No. 1 is also due Jan. 15.

Royals Close Gap In Pro Cage Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cincinnati Royals were just three percentage points behind the Syracuse Chiefs today in the race for second place in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association thanks to everyone's victim, the New York Knicks.

The Royals overtook the last-place Knicks with a fourth period surge in the only league game on Tuesday night's schedule, tied it at the end of the regulation time, then won in overtime, 112-105.

Syracuse shows a 19-15 record for a .559 percentage. Cincinnati eis 20-16 for .556. Both were five games behind the Boston Celtics.

LSU, Texas Divide Cotton Bowl Loot

DALLAS (AP)—Louisiana State and Texas each received $175,000 for playing in the Cotton Bowl but the Louisiana school will get to keep a larger hunk of its check.

The Tigers won the New Year's Day game 13-0.

LSU will retain $100,000. The remaining $75,000 goes to the Southeast Conference commissioner who will split it 12 ways, giving a share to the 11 other members in the loop and keeping one share for the commissioner's office. Each share will be about $6,250.

The University Of Texas will keep $60,000 plus $1,500 for travel expenses. The remaining $113,500 will be divided among the eight members of the Southwest Conference, including Texas. This means $14,187 for each member. Texas' share in this division will boost its total take to $75,687.

Ohio College Cagers Ready For Final Grind of Season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The glitter and drama of collegiate basketball's holiday tournament is over. Now Ohio's hoopsters settle down to the all-important task of battling it out for league championships and spots in he post-season NCAA and National Invitation tournaments.

The Buckeye teams ease gently this week into their free-for-all efforts to hammer out trophies for themselves. Thirty-two games are scheduled for the remaining four days of this week, but only 11 of them are league games.

Only one conference in the state can claim a leader at the moment.

In the Mid-American Conference, Bowing Green and Ohio University are tied for the top spot with 1-0 records, a situation which won't last long. The Bobcats invade the Bee-Gees' court Saturday in a contest which could ultimately decide the championship and the slot in the big NCAA tourney that automatically goes with it.

Although it seems unlikely, Bowling Green could relinquish its share of the lead before the Saturday meeting with the Bobcats. The Falcons take on Western Michigan in a league battle tonight, and a home court defeat would put the Falcons a half-game behind the Bobcats.

The Ohio Conference is knotted up three ways with Akron, Ohio Wesleyan and Witenberg all straining at their bits to burst out in front. Both Wittenberg and Akron play two games this week, but only Wittenberg lays its claim to the league lead on the line—in a game Saturday against invading Muskingum. The Tigers warm up for the game tonight by playing host to Central State in a non-league bout.

Ohio Wesleyan takes on Ohio University in an intersectional fray tonight, and Akron, on a visit to the nation's capital, battles Catholic University Friday and American University Saturday.

The Mid-Ohio Conference is the only Buckeye circuit which currently has a team on top of the pack. Wilmington (2-0) is out in front, with Defiance right behind with 1-0. Both teams play non-league games Saturday, with Ashland invading Wilmington and Goshen (Ind.) at Defiance.

The Presidents' Athletic Conference has two out-of-staters on top—Washington & Jefferson and Bethany, both at 1-0. John Carroll and Case Tech are right behind with '11. No conference games are scheduled this week.

Of course, all Buckeye fans are looking forward to Saturday's game between Ohio State and Minnesota — a contest which marks the start of play in the Big Ten.

Ohio State, now 7-1 for the season, completed its preliminary skirmishing New Year's Eve with a 97-91 victory over Brigham Young and now sets its sights on a fourth straight conference championship. Minnesota brings a 4-6 season record to the Buckeye lair Saturday.

Other highlights this week include Houston at Cincinnati tonight, Dayton at Xavier Thursday and Wichita at Cincinnati Saturday.

One-Time Boxing Champ Dies at 48

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Alberto (Baby) Arizmendi, who in 1934 won a share of the disputed featherweight championship, is dead.

The specific cause of his death Monday in the Veterans Administration Hospital at West Los Angeles has not been announced. The hospital said he died of natural causes. He was 48.

Born at Torreon, Mexico, Arizmendi decisioned Kid Pancho in Mexico City in 1931 to win the Mexico bantamweight crown.

Arizmendi's record as a featherweight, lightweight and weterweight was 50 victories, 25 losses and 11 draws. He served in the Navy in World War II.

He leaves his widow, Henrietta.

Tightened Boxing Rules Are Urged

NEW YORK (AP)—The men who write about boxing said today the sport should be more closely regulated but should not be outlawed.

The Boxing Writers Association sent a four-page statement to the New York State Joint Legislative Commitee on Professional Boxing, urging mandatory spacing of fights, additional examinations of boxers and better screening of officials.

The committee has been conducting hearings to decide whether boxing should be outlawed in the state. It was set up after the death of former welterweight champion Benney (Kid) Paret from injuries suffered in a bout with Emile Griffith at Madison Square Garden last March.

Bearcats Aim For No. 28

Houston Set To Test Cincinnati Champions

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The last time Cincinnati was beaten, the Bearcats had run up a record of 27 straight victories. Now they've reached 27 games without a loss again and tonight take on Houston at home.

It was in Dec. 1961 that Coach Ed Jucker's two-time NCAA champions were ambushed by Wichita, 52-51. Since then, except for a loss to Bradley they have mowed down all their opposition, including dreaded Ohio State in the NCAA finals.

Houston shows a mediocre 7-5 record, but the Cougars lost two of their games in overtime—to Michigan and, in the Sugar Bowl Tournament, to Auburn — and could be tough.

Jucker is worried, too, over the condition of 6-foot-8 Dale Heidotting, who injured an ankle last week and probably won't play. This is the final non-league game for the Bearcats, No. 1 in the current Associated Press poll, before they begin Missouri Valley operations Saturday against—of all teams—Wichita.

Duke is the only other ranked team scheduled to play tonight. The Blue Devils, No. 7, with high hopes of sweeping through the Atlantic Coast Conference, play Vrginia on their home court and should have no trouble.

Georgia Tech, a team to be reckoned with in the Southeastern conference puts its undefeated (7-0) record on the line at home against the Air Force Academy in its final warmup before starting league action against Kentucky Saturday.

In other major games tonight, Brigham Young is at Memphis State, Yale is at North Carolina, Cornell is at North Carolina State, Florida State is at Tennessee, Indiana plays giant-killer Notre Dame (the Irish knocked Illinos from the undefeated ranks Monday) at Fort Wayne, Ind., and Drake is at Purdue.

Tigers Host Franklin Heights Friday in SCO League Game

The Circleville High School basketball team will resume action Friday, hosting Franklin Heights in a South Central Ohio league encounter.

The Tigers, although practicing nearly every day and engaging in four scrimmages, during school vacation have not played an official game since Dec. 21.

Paul Reiss' charges own a 3-4 overall record and are still in the South Central Ohio League race with a 1-2 record. All other teams in the league have lost at least one game.

Franklin Heights brings a 1-6 slate into the Mill St. gymnasium. They have scored 306 points while allowing the opposition to tally 437.

* * *

THE TIGERS have accumulated 361 points in seven games and opponents have tallied 384.

Reiss has announced a probable starting five for the Tiger-Falcon battle. He said Clesson Thomas will start at center, with either Bob Waple or Dave Hannahs at one forward position and Tom Smith at the other. Guards will probably be Dave Bass and Garold Dade, although the Tiger mentor noted that Bob Purcell has a good chance to win the starting nod.

Next week the Circleville gym will be invaded by Wilmington tied for the league lead with Miami Trace. The following Tuesday, Jan. 15, the Circleville - Greenfield game originally scheduled for Dec. 7 will be played here.

During practices and scrimmages Reiss noted Tigers looked real good at times and seemed to be showing improvement.

Other games around the SCO this week find Miami Trace at Washington C. H., Hillsboro at Wilmington, and Pleasant View at Greenfield. Saturday Columbus Bishop Hartley travels to Pleasant View and Greenfield hosts Chillicothe.

Nominations Open For Scioto Downs Challenge Stakes

Nominations are being accepted for the Scioto Downs Challenge Stakes No. 2 to be raced at the Downs during the 1963 meeting scheduled to open May 31.

The stake race, inaugurated at Scioto Downs during the 1962 night harness racing season, will stage events for 2-year-old trotters and 2-year-old pacers during the coming year, with the 3-year-old events scheduled for 1964 and the 4-year-old events set for 1965.

All nominations to challenge stakes No. 2 will close January 15. The nomination fee is $30.

Highly pleased with the first Challenge Stakes staged last year, Scioto Downs president Charles D. Hill stated: "We had 320 nominations to the first Challenge Stake and already many of the sport's leading horsemen are planning to nominate their outstanding two-year-olds to the second stake."

Last year the total purse in the 2-year-old trotting division with 18 starters amounted to $8,195 while he 2-year-old pacing division with 18 starters totaled $8,400.

The sustaining payment for 3-year-olds on Challenge Stakes No. 1 is also due Jan. 15.

Royals Close Gap In Pro Cage Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cincinnati Royals were just three percentage points behind the Syracuse Chiefs today in the race for second place in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association thanks to everyone's victim, the New York Knicks.

The Royals overtook the last-place Knicks with a fourth period surge in the only league game on Tuesday night's schedule, tied it at the end of the regulation time, then won in overtime, 112-105.

Syracuse shows a 19-15 record for a .559 percentage. Cincinnati eis 20-16 for .556. Both were five games behind the Boston Celtics.

LSU, Texas Divide Cotton Bowl Loot

DALLAS (AP)—Louisiana State and Texas each received $175,000 for playing in the Cotton Bowl but the Louisiana school will get to keep a larger hunk of its check.

The Tigers won the New Year's Day game 13-0.

LSU will retain $100,000. The remaining $75,000 goes to the Southeast Conference commissioner who will split it 12 ways, giving a share to the 11 other members in the loop and keeping one share for the commissioner's office. Each share will be about $6,250.

The University Of Texas will keep $60,000 plus $1,500 for travel expenses. The remaining $113,500 will be divided among the eight members of the Southwest Conference, including Texas. This means $14,187 for each member. Texas' share in this division will boost its total take to $75,687.

Views on TV - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A cookbook writer once explained that the way most "new" dishes are developed is by adding an extra ingredient to an old recipe or by substituting one thing for another —nutmeg for cinnamon, for instance.

Skillful chefs of television cooked up a panel show called "What's My Line?" more than a decade ago. Now there are programs using the same basic recipe scattered through television schedules like raisins in a fruitcake.

Ingredients of the most successful include liberal quantities of celebrities, mixed into a rather simple guessing game. It is spiced by small talk, wisecracks and commercial plugs by the celebrities. The recipe always permits some participation by the audience — a vital element in the recipe.

Now still another variation of the good old recipe has been launched, "The Match Game." It will be available hereafter daily from 4 to 4:25 p.m. (EST) on NBC.

The first game was played on Monday and if you like "Password" you'll probably like this one too.

Arlene Francis, a good gameswoman who can be counted upon for amusing side remarks, was captain of a team of three. The other two players were, as in all good television games, chosen from the studio audience. Skitch Henderson captained the rival team.

Leader Gene Rayburn, in one round, instructed each player to write the name of a "game played on grass." Members of Henderson's team picked golf, croquet and football. But Miss Francis and another member of her team chose tennis, which constituted a "Match" and a "win."

That's all there is to it—except the complicated scoring, the usual buzzers, bells, gadgets and chit-chat. It's an innocuous timekiller and obviously will not do much to lift daytime television levels.

Recommended tonight: "The First Lady," CBS, 7:30-8 (EST)—first of a series about wives of presidents from Washington to Kennedy.

Southern California Win Tops List of Bowl Affairs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"We almost blew it, like the Dodgers."

That's how one of the Southern California players summed up his team's close call in the Rose Bowl Tuesday when Wisconsin turned a laugher—the players' name for a runaway—into a gasper, before the Trojans finaly emerged with a 42-37 victory in the highest scoring of all the 49 battles in the Pasadena, Calif. arena.

Southern Cal protected its No. 1 national ranking against the second-ranked Badgers by running up a 42-14 lead early in the fourth quarter, but Wisconsin stormed back with a fantastic 23 points in the final period to shake up the crowd of 98,698 at the oldest of the bowl games.

In the other three bowl battles New Year's Day, Mississippi topped Arkansas 17-13 in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, Louisiana State trounced Texas 13-0 in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas and Alabama rolled to a 17-0 decision over Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl at Miami before a crowd that included President Kennedy.

The Trojans escaped with their 10th Rose Bowl victory in 13 tries, but not before Wisconsin quarterback Ron VanderKelen led the Badgers to a great last gasp effort.

Wisconsin took its third Rose Bowl loss, and remained the only Big Ten team to play in the bowl without winning. The Badgers have now absorbed three of the four Big Ten losses since the conference began going to Pasadena in 1947.

The Trojans, who share a home town with the Los Angeles baseball Dodgers and who almost shared their fate of blowing a big lead, got off in front before the day's biggest crowd on the first of four scoring passes by Pete Bearthard.

VanderKelen passed the Badgers into a tie in the first quarter, but that was the last time the Big Ten team got close until the last quarter. When all appeared lost, VanderKelen led Wisconsin back with three touchdowns and a safety. He threw for two TDs, one to All-America end Pat Richter.

The Trojans finally ran out the clock on three line plays and a punt. The point total was the highest ever in a Rose Bowl, eclipsing the 61 scored in 1930 when Southern Cal defeated Pitt 47-14.

The Sugar Bowl victory was directed by quarterback Glynn Griffing, who signed a contract with the New York Giants right after the game. The score was tied twice, at 3-3 and 10-10. Griffing hit Louis Guy with a 33-yard pitch for one touchdown and scored the other himself from the 1-yard line.

Billy Carl Irwin kicked a 27-yard field goal for Mississippi and Tom McNelly booted two field goals for Arkansas.

Mississippi, the No. 3 team in the country, completed its first perfect season in history, against the No. 6 Razorbacks.

Louisiana State, ranked seventh completely stifled No. 4 Texas. No team had scored on the ground against LSU in its last 17 games, and the Longhorns never looked like the team to break the string.

Lynn Amadee, named the outstanding back of the game, kicked field goals of 23 and 37 yards, around a third period touchdown scored by Jimmy Field on a 22-yard run.

All-America center Lee Roy Jordan did the major wrecking job for No. 5 Alabama over No. 8 Oklahoma at the Orange Bowl.

He banged Sooner fullback Jim Grisham loose from the football twice within the Alabama 10-yard line in the first half, and his mates recovered both fumbles, Oklahoma was unable to mount an effective offensive after that, though the Sooners went into the game with the second best rushing attack and the third best total offense in the nation last season.

Joe Namath, the smooth 'Bama quarterback had a hand in both the Tide touchdowns. He pitched to Dick Williamson for 25 yards and hit Cotton Clark on a pitchout that was good for 15 yards and the second score.

Tim Davis added a 19-yard field goal in the third period.

Edwin Charles, Kansas City third baseman, stole 20 bases in 24 efforts last season.

Southern California Win Tops List of Bowl Affairs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"We almost blew it, like the Dodgers."

That's how one of the Southern California players summed up his team's close call in the Rose Bowl Tuesday when Wisconsin turned a laugher—the players' name for a runaway—into a gasper, before the Trojans finaly emerged with a 42-37 victory in the highest scoring of all the 49 battles in the Pasadena, Calif. arena.

Southern Cal protected its No. 1 national ranking against the second-ranked Badgers by running up a 42-14 lead early in the fourth quarter, but Wisconsin stormed back with a fantastic 23 points in the final period to shake up the crowd of 98,698 at the oldest of the bowl games.

In the other three bowl battles New Year's Day, Mississippi topped Arkansas 17-13 in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, Louisiana State trounced Texas 13-0 in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas and Alabama rolled to a 17-0 decision over Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl at Miami before a crowd that included President Kennedy.

The Trojans escaped with their 10th Rose Bowl victory in 13 tries, but not before Wisconsin quarterback Ron VanderKelen led the Badgers to a great last gasp effort.

Wisconsin took its third Rose Bowl loss, and remained the only Big Ten team to play in the bowl without winning. The Badgers have now absorbed three of the four Big Ten losses since the conference began going to Pasadena in 1947.

The Trojans, who share a home town with the Los Angeles baseball Dodgers and who almost shared their fate of blowing a big lead, got off in front before the day's biggest crowd on the first of four scoring passes by Pete Bearthard.

VanderKelen passed the Badgers into a tie in the first quarter, but that was the last time the Big Ten team got close until the last quarter. When all appeared lost, VanderKelen led Wisconsin back with three touchdowns and a safety. He threw for two TDs, one to All-America end Pat Richter.

The Trojans finally ran out the clock on three line plays and a punt. The point total was the highest ever in a Rose Bowl, eclipsing the 61 scored in 1930 when Southern Cal defeated Pitt 47-14.

The Sugar Bowl victory was directed by quarterback Glynn Griffing, who signed a contract with the New York Giants right after the game. The score was tied twice, at 3-3 and 10-10. Griffing hit Louis Guy with a 33-yard pitch for one touchdown and scored the other himself from the 1-yard line.

Billy Carl Irwin kicked a 27-yard field goal for Mississippi and Tom McNelly booted two field goals for Arkansas.

Mississippi, the No. 3 team in the country, completed its first perfect season in history, against the No. 6 Razorbacks.

Louisiana State, ranked seventh completely stifled No. 4 Texas. No team had scored on the ground against LSU in its last 17 games, and the Longhorns never looked like the team to break the string.

Lynn Amadee, named the outstanding back of the game, kicked field goals of 23 and 37 yards, around a third period touchdown scored by Jimmy Field on a 22-yard run.

All-America center Lee Roy Jordan did the major wrecking job for No. 5 Alabama over No. 8 Oklahoma at the Orange Bowl.

He banged Sooner fullback Jim Grisham loose from the football twice within the Alabama 10-yard line in the first half, and his mates recovered both fumbles, Oklahoma was unable to mount an effective offensive after that, though the Sooners went into the game with the second best rushing attack and the third best total offense in the nation last season.

Joe Namath, the smooth 'Bama quarterback had a hand in both the Tide touchdowns. He pitched to Dick Williamson for 25 yards and hit Cotton Clark on a pitchout that was good for 15 yards and the second score.

Tim Davis added a 19-yard field goal in the third period.

Edwin Charles, Kansas City third baseman, stole 20 bases in 24 efforts last season.

Pickaway Grange Report

SCIOTO GRANGE

The annual Christmas program of Scioto Grange was held December 20th at Scioto School.

After the routine business was taken care of a program was presented by the lecturer, Mrs. James Hastings. Juvenile members opened with a skit, "Santa's Operation', a dialogue entitled, "Christmas" and a Christmas Song was sung by the entire juvenile group.

Mrs. Orban Burchwell, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ernest Bidwell, sang, "Winter Wonderland" and "White Christmas". A reading entitled "A Solitary Life" was read by Mrs. S. E. Beers. Christmas carols were sung by the group, accompanied by an instrumental trio composed of Mrs. Ernest Bidwell, Mrs. Orban Burchwell and Kenneth Beach. The program was closed with a Christmas Prayer read by Mrs. Paul Green.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Melvin became 25-year members on December 15, but were unable to be present to receive their certificates and pins.

Refreshments of sandwiches, cookies, candy, popcorn, hot chocolate, and coffee were enjoyed by all.

Gifts were brought to be sent to Orient State School.

Scioto Grange members will serve lunch at the Hastings' sale on January 3rd.

An open house meeting is being planned for Thursday January 17.

Mead Paper Chief Dies At Age 85

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Funeral services for George Houk Mead, 85, who headed and advised the operation of the giant Mead Corp., paper manufacturers, for 55 years, are scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Thursday in St. Paul's Episcopal Church in suburban Oakwood.

Mead, who retired as chairman of the corporation in 1948, died Tuesday at his home following a long illness. He had been honorary chairman of the board since his retirement.

The industrialist began his career in the paper industry in 1897 in a mill founded by his grandfather. He saw the firm grow from two mall predecessor plants in Dayton and Chillicothe to 41 manufacturing operations in 17 states.

Mead also served on various government boards and commissions during his career. From 1935 to 1936 he was chairman of the National Business Advisory Council; a member of the National Defense Mediation Board in 1941, and served on the War Mobilization and Reconversion Board, the Economic Stabilization and the Federal Price Decontrol boards from 1944-1946.

Major Crime In Cincinnati On Increase

CINCINNATI (AP) — Major crime in Cincinnati rose for the ninth straight year in 1962, reaching a 25-year high.

Martin P. Geygan, assistant supervisor of police records, said in his year-end report that there were 10,724 cases of major crime last year, compared with 9,381 in 1961. His report said arrests were made in 47.6 per cent of the cases.

The report suggested part of the increase may be due to not having enough policemen. Cincinnati has an average of 1.9 policemen for each 1,000 inhabitants, while the national average for cities of comparable size is 2.6 for each thousand people.

All classes of major crime showed increases. Geygan's report showed the following total in each category for 1962 (given first) and 1961:

Murder, 44-37; manslaughter, 28-21; rape, 96-80; robbery 289-242; aggravated assault, 667-340; burglary, 2086-1,693; larceny, 6,607-6,137, and automobile theft, 907-831.

Corn Prices Aided By Big Pig Crop

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reports that prospects for a larger pig crop is strengthening corn prices.

A recent Crop Reporting Board report forecast a 4 per cent increase in the size of the 1963 spring pig crop over the 1962 crop. It also reported there were 3 per cent more hogs on farms now than a year earlier.

These figures indicated that the demand for corn which has grown sharply in recent years under an expanding livestock industry, will be stronger during the winter and spring than had been expected earlier.

Some parents permit children to check grocery price slips to help them improve their arithmetic for school assignmnts.

New Taxation

You must maintain a diary account book, expense statement, or other record to show all T & E outlays big or small. The entries must be made within a day or two of the expenditure, and must contain these substantiating details:

1. The amount.
2. The time and place of travel or entertainment, or the date and description of a gift.
3. The business purpose of the outlay.
4. The business relationship to you of the person entertained or given a present.

There are a multitude of further rules, details, instructions, exceptions and elaborations. Some of these represent important changes from the tentative T & E regulation issued by IRS Nov. 8. That preliminary order was so severe that it brought hundreds of outraged businessmen pouring into Washington to give battle.

IRS softened the final regulation. For instance, it boosted from $10 to $25 the expenditure for which receipts or vouchers must be kept as proof.

But Caplin recognized that it would be asking the impossible to make taxpayers start toeing the mark as of Jan. 1, even though the regulation will apply to the full 1963 tax return.

Accordingly, he granted a 30-day "familiarization" period. Revenue agents were instructed to allow "reasonable tolerances" for this one month, for taxpayers who make a good-faith effort to comply as rapidly as possible.

For the thousands of business firms which face mechanical difficulties in changing their bookkeeping, a 90-day grace period is given to companies which try in good-faith to achieve the earliest possible compliance.

This will afford time for corporations to prepare, print and distribute new forms and instructions for employes and branches around the world, re-program their electronic business machines and arrange for the handling and storage of bales of vouchers, receipts and expense statements which must be kept to satisfy the new vigilance of Uncle Sam.

21 Attend MYF Meeting

Mt. Pleasant Methodist Youth Fellowship held its regular meeting in the church social rooms, with 21 persons attending.

Bob Kellough presided during the business session. It was announced that the group's appearance on the Jack Denton TV Show had been postponed until June 10. Plans for a mid-winter retreat are to be completed at the next meeting.

A discussion was held concerning the group's plans to buy new carpeting for the church.

Thelma Minor was in charge of the program topic, "New Year's Resolutions." Taking part in the program were Dick Woodward, Donna Kilian, Lois Atwood, Kathleen Roberts, Bob Kellough, David Massie, Roy Carter, Carolyn Dollison, Judy Minor and Marie Harris.

A fun-song session was conducted by Rev. Bill Nelson. Lois Atwood was in charge of the recreation period.

The meeting was adjourned with group recitation of benediction.

Farm Price Level Is above Year Ago

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farmers started the New Year off with a price level 1 per cent above a year ago but with little prospect of improvement in 1963.

The Agriculture Department has reported that prices received by farmers late in December were down 1 per cent from the November level but still 1 per cent above the December level of 1961.

But this modest price improvement was more than offset by a 2 per cent increase in 1962 in the prices farmers paid for goods and services.

Agriculture Department economists have predicted that farm prices may lose a little ground this year, reflecting increases in production and supplies of some products, particularly livestock.

Stolen Washer Costs Owner $5

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — After his washing machine was stolen, a 38-year-old Dayton man went out looking for it.

He checked around and located one in a used furniture store which looked like the missing machine.

He talked with the proprietor, who said she had paid $2 for it. The man checked with police who determined that the machine was, indeed, the missing one.

The man now has the machine back in his home—but it cost him $5, records indicated. He and the store owner agreed on the price for its return.

Blue Cross will again offer a senior contract to persons 65 years of age and over. The problem of health care for persons 65 and over has attracted widespread attention and concern. For many years Blue Cross has continued the protection of its members regardless of age, if the protection was obtained before the members' 65th birthday. And now, for those who did not obtain Blue Cross before their 65th birthday, Central Hospital Service has developed a "Senior Contract." If you are retired or employed with less than 5 employes and in reasonably good health . . . you can enroll! And if you are under 65 and employed with fewer than 5 you can enroll on the 80-20 direct pay contract. Protect yourself and your family against costly hospital confinement . . . get Blue Cross and cut those hospital bills down to budget size. For full information on these and other Blue cross contracts, stop in at enrollment headquarters or write "Central Hospital Service," 174 East Long Street, Columbus.

MAY BE ABANDONED—This is Texas Radar Tower No. 2, out in the Atlantic off Cape Cod, which the Air Force announced may be abandoned next year. Erosion is doing its inevitable work, but the danger stage hasn't been reached yet. Two years ago one of these towers collapsed; killed 28.

Pickaway Grange Report

SCIOTO GRANGE

The annual Christmas program of Scioto Grange was held December 20th at Scioto School.

After the routine business was taken care of a program was presented by the lecturer, Mrs. James Hastings. Juvenile members opened with a skit, "Santa's Operation', a dialogue entitled, "Christmas" and a Christmas Song was sung by the entire juvenile group.

Mrs. Orban Burchwell, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ernest Bidwell, sang, "Winter Wonderland" and "White Christmas". A reading entitled "A Solitary Life" was read by Mrs. S. E. Beers. Christmas carols were sung by the group, accompanied by an instrumental trio composed of Mrs. Ernest Bidwell, Mrs. Orban Burchwell and Kenneth Beach. The program was closed with a Christmas Prayer read by Mrs. Paul Green.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Melvin became 25-year members on December 15, but were unable to be present to receive their certificates and pins.

Refreshments of sandwiches, cookies, candy, popcorn, hot chocolate, and coffee were enjoyed by all.

Gifts were brought to be sent to Orient State School.

Scioto Grange members will serve lunch at the Hastings' sale on January 3rd.

An open house meeting is being planned for Thursday January 17.

Mead Paper Chief Dies At Age 85

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Funeral services for George Houk Mead, 85, who headed and advised the operation of the giant Mead Corp., paper manufacturers, for 55 years, are scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Thursday in St. Paul's Episcopal Church in suburban Oakwood.

Mead, who retired as chairman of the corporation in 1948, died Tuesday at his home following a long illness. He had been honorary chairman of the board since his retirement.

The industrialist began his career in the paper industry in 1897 in a mill founded by his grandfather. He saw the firm grow from two mall predecessor plants in Dayton and Chillicothe to 41 manufacturing operations in 17 states.

Mead also served on various government boards and commissions during his career. From 1935 to 1936 he was chairman of the National Business Advisory Council; a member of the National Defense Mediation Board in 1941, and served on the War Mobilization and Reconversion Board, the Economic Stabilization and the Federal Price Decontrol boards from 1944-1946.

Major Crime In Cincinnati On Increase

CINCINNATI (AP) — Major crime in Cincinnati rose for the ninth straight year in 1962, reaching a 25-year high.

Martin P. Geygan, assistant supervisor of police records, said in his year-end report that there were 10,724 cases of major crime last year, compared with 9,381 in 1961. His report said arrests were made in 47.6 per cent of the cases.

The report suggested part of the increase may be due to not having enough policemen. Cincinnati has an average of 1.9 policemen for each 1,000 inhabitants, while the national average for cities of comparable size is 2.6 for each thousand people.

All classes of major crime showed increases. Geygan's report showed the following total in each category for 1962 (given first) and 1961:

Murder, 44-37; manslaughter, 28-21; rape, 96-80; robbery 289-242; aggravated assault, 667-340; burglary, 2086-1,693; larceny, 6,607-6,137, and automobile theft, 907-831.

Corn Prices Aided By Big Pig Crop

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reports that prospects for a larger pig crop is strengthening corn prices.

A recent Crop Reporting Board report forecast a 4 per cent increase in the size of the 1963 spring pig crop over the 1962 crop. It also reported there were 3 per cent more hogs on farms now than a year earlier.

These figures indicated that the demand for corn which has grown sharply in recent years under an expanding livestock industry, will be stronger during the winter and spring than had been expected earlier.

Some parents permit children to check grocery price slips to help them improve their arithmetic for school assignmnts.

New Taxation

You must maintain a diary account book, expense statement, or other record to show all T & E outlays big or small. The entries must be made within a day or two of the expenditure, and must contain these substantiating details:

1. The amount.
2. The time and place of travel or entertainment, or the date and description of a gift.
3. The business purpose of the outlay.
4. The business relationship to you of the person entertained or given a present.

There are a multitude of further rules, details, instructions, exceptions and elaborations. Some of these represent important changes from the tentative T & E regulation issued by IRS Nov. 8. That preliminary order was so severe that it brought hundreds of outraged businessmen pouring into Washington to give battle.

IRS softened the final regulation. For instance, it boosted from $10 to $25 the expenditure for which receipts or vouchers must be kept as proof.

But Caplin recognized that it would be asking the impossible to make taxpayers start toeing the mark as of Jan. 1, even though the regulation will apply to the full 1963 tax return.

Accordingly, he granted a 30-day "familiarization" period. Revenue agents were instructed to allow "reasonable tolerances" for this one month, for taxpayers who make a good-faith effort to comply as rapidly as possible.

For the thousands of business firms which face mechanical difficulties in changing their bookkeeping, a 90-day grace period is given to companies which try in good-faith to achieve the earliest possible compliance.

This will afford time for corporations to prepare, print and distribute new forms and instructions for employes and branches around the world, re-program their electronic business machines and arrange for the handling and storage of bales of vouchers, receipts and expense statements which must be kept to satisfy the new vigilance of Uncle Sam.

21 Attend MYF Meeting

Mt. Pleasant Methodist Youth Fellowship held its regular meeting in the church social rooms, with 21 persons attending.

Bob Kellough presided during the business session. It was announced that the group's appearance on the Jack Denton TV Show had been postponed until June 10. Plans for a mid-winter retreat are to be completed at the next meeting.

A discussion was held concerning the group's plans to buy new carpeting for the church.

Thelma Minor was in charge of the program topic, "New Year's Resolutions." Taking part in the program were Dick Woodward, Donna Kilian, Lois Atwood, Kathleen Roberts, Bob Kellough, David Massie, Roy Carter, Carolyn Dollison, Judy Minor and Marie Harris.

A fun-song session was conducted by Rev. Bill Nelson. Lois Atwood was in charge of the recreation period.

The meeting was adjourned with group recitation of benediction.

Farm Price Level Is above Year Ago

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farmers started the New Year off with a price level 1 per cent above a year ago but with little prospect of improvement in 1963.

The Agriculture Department has reported that prices received by farmers late in December were down 1 per cent from the November level but still 1 per cent above the December level of 1961.

But this modest price improvement was more than offset by a 2 per cent increase in 1962 in the prices farmers paid for goods and services.

Agriculture Department economists have predicted that farm prices may lose a little ground this year, reflecting increases in production and supplies of some products, particularly livestock.

Stolen Washer Costs Owner $5

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — After his washing machine was stolen, a 38-year-old Dayton man went out looking for it.

He checked around and located one in a used furniture store which looked like the missing machine.

He talked with the proprietor, who said she had paid $2 for it. The man checked with police who determined that the machine was, indeed, the missing one.

The man now has the machine back in his home—but it cost him $5, records indicated. He and the store owner agreed on the price for its return.
